The Helicopter Bus Is Coming

Only six years away—maybe as few as five—is the prospect of fleets of 30 to 50 passenger helicopter buses competing directly with highway carriers for short-haul intercity public-carrier transportation.

This is the finding of the Air Transport Association, confirming a carefully worked-out survey by its helicopter committee.

The "copters" will fly local, scheduled operations, feeding trunkline stations for transfer to long-range aircraft. This is not at all a theoretical survey. Their "airports" can be close in to the city from which they operate.

The commercial air bus, now being designed, grew out of helicopter operations in the Korean campaign. It will require not too much modification from machines already proved in exacting service. A good year and a half or perhaps two years of tests will be made before they are placed in commercial air-bus service so that all possible "bugs" may be eliminated.

Korea

This development has come with great swiftness because of the amazing performance of helicopters in Korea, where they carried out a great variety of missions under difficult conditions of weather and terrain. It explains, in part at least, why major manufacturers have been holding back in development of a fixed-wing "transport" to replace the magnificent DC-3, the aircraft which really enabled commercial aviation in the United States to find its financial feet, but which now is no longer being manufactured.

These DC-3's are yet to be found on many feeder, short-haul "runs" and veteran passengers have an affection for them which they feel is returned. Many airline fliers today actually seek out DC-3 flights just to spend some time with an old aircraft friend.

The ATA helicopter committee says the air bus can be integrated into local schedules within the next decade, at an overall cost no greater than that of the twin-engine craft now in operation. Sikorsky plans to modify its Marine and Army assault transport (S-56) into a commercial air bus. The ATA report discloses:

"This is a single five-blade rotor helicopter powered with two turbine engines. Powerplants are mounted in nacelles at the outboard end of stub wings located above the fuselage. Landing gear is retractable. Rotor system and blades are fully de-iced. A single tail rotor and horizontal stabilizer provide directional control and longitudinal stability. Payload capacity is 10,000 pounds for 200-mile range and, with a cabin seating 50 passengers, gross weight is expected to be about 34,000 pounds," the report says.

"Performance is estimated as follows: Cruising speed, approximately 160 mph; vertical climb, approximately 2,000 ft. per min.; minimum flight speed with one engine inoperative, 25 mph."

So, the air bus is coming. It would be here in two to three years if it were not for military priority.

Greyhound

In this connection, it is well to note that Greyhound, whose huge passenger buses are so familiar on American highways, has already asked for an air-bus license and plans to put helicopters into operation.

Also, as supporting evidence, helicopters already are flying passengers between New York's Idlewild, LaGuardia and Newark airports.

The machine revolution continues to crank up to new speeds. It is entirely possible that within 10 to 15 years, if Lockheed's President Gross is correct, that much of the nation's freight now being moved by truck and train, will be flown in the cargo ship now being built for the army.

The "mock-up" for this huge craft, the first to be built for great freight loads, is on its way from the coast to the Lockheed plant at Marietta, Ga., where it will be built.

It may be that 15 years or less from now, with most of the freight and bus line passengers in the air, the roads will provide enough room for the passenger car.

DOWN FROM THE SKY WITH ALTITUDE RECORD
Lt. Col. Carl Climbs Out of Skyrocket After 83,235-Ft. Ascent

Marine Pilot Climbs To Record 16 Miles

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(AP)—A rocket-powered plane has ascended 83,235 feet, almost 16 miles, to set a new unofficial world's altitude record, the Navy disclosed today.

Mrs. Russell's Rites Today at Winder Home

Constitution State News Service
WINDER, Aug. 31—Funeral services for Mrs. Richard B. Russell, 51, mother of Georgia's Sen. Richard B. Russell, will be held at the family residence here at 11 a. m. Tuesday and burial will be in the family plot nearby.

Mrs. Russell, who reared a distinguished family of 13 children, died Sunday of a cerebral hemorrhage. She was 85.

The Rev. J. T. Anderson, pastor of the Winder Presbyterian Church, will conduct the funeral services. Mrs. Russell was a devoted member of his church and a Sunday School teacher for many years.

He will be assisted by the Rev. E. H. Collins, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Winder and Dr. J. McDowell Richards, president of Columbia Theological Seminary.

Chairs will be placed under the trees near the home for the rites and a loudspeaker will carry the sermon to those outside.

Following the services, family and friends will go to the burial plot on a hill behind the house. Buried there are Mrs. Russell's husband, the late Georgia chief justice; two children who died in their infancy and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Russell who died at the age of six.

The following grandsons will serve as pallbearers: Robert L. Russell Jr., Richard Russell III, and William Russell.

Lt. Col. Marion E. Carl of the Marine Corps, established the new mark, almost 16 miles, on Aug. 21, during tests of a new Navy high-altitude pressure suit at Edwards Air Force Base, Muroc, Calif. His plane was a Douglas-built Skyrocket.

Bill Bridgeman, a civilian pilot, set the previous altitude record of 79,494 feet, also in a Skyrocket, on Aug. 15, 1951.

The Navy did not reveal Carl's speed. But Bridgeman flew 1,238 miles per hour. Officials said that conditions encountered at such altitudes are about like those in outer space.

A "mother" B-29 carried Carl's plane to 34,000 feet before it was launched for its spectacular climb.

Within a few seconds after it was freed the tiny, swept-wing craft, called the D-559-II, was roaring well past the speed of sound. It has four rocket engines.

FUEL EXHAUSTED
Although the supply of rocket fuel was exhausted by the time the plane reached 75,000 feet, its momentum carried it to the record height.

The Federation Aeronautique Internationale (sanctioning body for official world records) will not recognize the mark because its rules specify that aircraft must take off from the ground under their own power.

After the Skyrocket hit the new record, Carl glided back to a dried-up lake bed at Edwards Air Force Base for a landing at a speed of 150 miles an hour.

Nixon Lauds Truman on Korea War

Fight Imperative, He Tells Legion

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 31—(AP)—Vice-President Nixon said today former President Truman made the right move when he sent U. S. troops into the Korean War "because the Communists had to be stopped."

Addressing the opening session of the National American Legion convention, Nixon said that "putting aside who should get the credit, we can be thankful that the shooting has stopped in Korea."

"I have had many occasions to disagree with the former president," Nixon said, "but on this issue, the Korean War, Truman was right."

2 KOREAN GOALS

He listed two present objectives in Korea: "To see that the principles for which Korean veterans fought are not compromised and to build a lasting foundation for peace which would make another Korea impossible."

Nixon also outlined his views on controversial matters on the Legion agenda such as military budget cuts, procedures of congressional committees and Communist infiltration.

On military budget cuts, he said that more planes would be delivered by 1955 than the previous administration had planned and "it will be done for less money."

COMBAT PLANE TOTAL

"What counts in the best air force in the world, bar none, is not the number of planes or groups on paper but the number of combat planes in actual readiness," Nixon said.

Praising President Eisenhower's judgment, he said that it could be trusted by the people of the United States "better than that of any other man in the world today."

Nixon disagreed with critics of congressional committees who say they have done more harm than good and urged the Legionnaires to read last week's report.

Girls' School Ex-Assistant Given Reins

Mrs. Marguerite Chandler Mauldin will become acting superintendent of Georgia Training School for Girls, near Adamsville, Tuesday.

State Welfare Director Alan Kemper announced her appointment Monday. She will replace Mrs. Leroy Acree, who is accompanying her husband to New York where he will enroll in the New York School of Social Work.

Mrs. Mauldin was appointed on the recommendation of Bill Ireland, director of training schools for the State Welfare Dept. and head of the Georgia Training School for Boys at Milledgeville.

A former house mother at the Adamsville school, Mrs. Mauldin has been employed at the boys training school for the past three years.

Cities Open To H-Bomb —Ridgway

By HAROLD B. HINTON
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—General Ridgway, new Chief of Staff of the Army, warned the large cities of America today that they cannot expect, in case of war, an airtight defense against bombardment by atomic or hydrogen bombs.

Despite the increased proficiency of the Army's Nike-guided missiles, designed to shoot down airplanes from ground positions, he explained that the country could not afford to install enough launching stations to make all cities invulnerable, nor did he believe the present capabilities of these and other anti-aircraft weapons sufficient for such a task.

An attempt to create an attack-proof air screen, he continued, would mean using up all the national resources on the project, with a resultant retreat to hemispheric defense. Like most professional soldiers, he made it clear he prefers to engage the enemy as far afield as possible and not be tied down to a static defense, or some sort of Maginot line, in his own country.

General Ridgway's views on anti-aircraft defense were only a sidelight of his observations at an informal meeting with reporters today in his office, and were given in answer to questions.

His main concern was the morale of the Army, which he said has been reported to him as being at low ebb. Since he has been abroad for the last two and a half years, in command of the United Nations forces in Korea and as commander-in-chief of the forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, he conceded he had no personal knowledge on the subject.

New Atomic Blast Fired By Russia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced tonight that Russia set off an atomic explosion on Aug. 29.

AEC officials refused to elaborate on the announcement.

Earlier this month the commission confirmed a Russian announcement that the Soviet Union had set off a hydrogen explosion Aug. 12.

Prior to that time, Russia had conducted three atomic tests, the latest being in October, 1951.

The United States keeps track of Soviet atomic tests through a far-flung monitoring system which employs delicate instruments that detect the radioactivity spewed into the atmosphere by atomic or hydrogen explosions.

East Germans Slugged, Hold To U. S. Food

By JOSEPH FLEMING

BERLIN, Aug. 31—(AP)—Communist police today beat with clubs and fists scores of East Germans who refused to give up American food packages they were taking home from West Berlin.

Germans sitting through the Red blockade reported that the "People's Police" attacked men and women carrying the "Eisenhower parcels" at three places outside Berlin.

At Falkensee, one woman was reported beaten so severely that she was taken to a hospital suffering serious injuries. The number of manhandled Germans struggling to cling to their seven pounds of food was said to run into the scores.

10,000 GET FOOD

About 10,000 residents of the Soviet Zone braved the Communist restrictions and reprisals today to get the food parcels. The distribution was in the first week of its 38-day second round.

In a new move to block the relief program, the Communists began to charge food seekers with smuggling foodstuffs to the West.

The East German news service ADN said butter, eggs, bread, marmalade, vegetables, fruit and meat were being smuggled out of the Soviet Zone for sale in West Berlin.

"The black market has caused great indignation among West Berlin truck farmers and vegetable dealers," the agency said. "They share the demand that

3 of 5 Freed Georgia PWs Are Officers

By JACK NELSON

Five Georgians, including three officers, were released by the Reds at Panmunjom Monday night, raising to 86 the number of Georgians freed in Operation Big Switch.

They were:
1st Lt. Charles W. Hill Jr., son of Mrs. Charles W. Hill Sr., 1111 Briarcliff Pl., N. E., Atlanta.
Lt. Col. Paul V. Liles, husband of Mrs. Harriet Liles, 35 Artillery Dr., Columbus.

Major John N. McLaughlin, son of J. J. McLanklin of Savannah.
Sgt. William F. Evans, son of Mrs. Bessie Lutz, Kensington, Rt. 1.
Sgt. Daniel Martinez, husband of Mrs. Johanna Martinez, 810 Winston Rd., Columbus.

REAL HERO CAPTIVES

Georgians released Monday night were among 100 American PWs freed.

Meanwhile, it was reported the Communists are holding 60 "real hero" Allied prisoners in a secret camp as hostages for the return of 14 Reds who led the bloody Kojima Island riots.

Returning prisoners said the 60 men, leaders of the anti-Communist underground in the hell camps of Communist Korea, are being hidden from Red Cross investigators in a special camp four miles south of Kaesong.

ALL GOING HOME
However, the Allies and Communists formally agreed Monday that all war prisoners who want to go home will be freed in Operation Big Switch.

Maj. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, chief Allied member of the Military Armistice Commission, announced after a meeting that "both sides have agreed there are no exceptions."

Colonel Liles is the highest ranking Georgian released by the Reds. Only one other American of equal rank has been released. Another Georgia lieutenant-colonel still held captive is Lt. Col. William G. Thrash, former Georgia Tech football star, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Agnes Dixon

PW Dixon, In Marital Mix, Freed

Pfc. Walter B. Dixon, whose wife Agnes married another soldier after he was reported killed in action, walked to freedom in the first group of American prisoners released Monday night.

Mrs. Dixon, who had her second marriage to Pfc. William Sasser annulled when she learned that her first husband was alive, was informed of Dixon's release by The Constitution.

She was reached by telephone at the home of the Sasser family at LaGrange, N. C., and her first reaction to the news was a long pause, followed by the remark:

"I'm not saying anything to any newspaper reporters."

In answer to all questions put to her by the interviewer, Mrs. Dixon reiterated her previous statement and finally hung up.

Her father, J. L. Lasseter of Cullman, Ala., told The Constitution that Sasser had been discharged from the Army and that Agnes and another daughter, Irma, were living with the Sasser family.

"I'm glad for that boy to be free," said Lasseter. "His wife will be happy."

Lasseter added he and his wife never gave their daughter any advice on the tangled marital situation.

Dixon's sister, Mrs. Lorene Storey of Galena Park, Texas, told The Constitution she had heard the news of her brother's release, and that his last letter, dated in May, was received late in June.

Mrs. Storey said Dixon knew of his wife's second marriage.

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

BONN, Aug. 31—(AP)—West German police already beset by Communist infiltrators from the East tonight battled Fascist sympathizers who defied a ban on their meetings.

As the campaign for the Sept. 6 parliamentary election neared the climax the nation's entire border defense force was mobilized to hold back waves of Red thugs trying to slip in from Soviet Germany to "disrupt the elections." More than 5,000 would-be infiltrators have been arrested and thousands more driven back.

In Nuernberg and its suburb of Fuerth, riot police used clubs and fire hose to quell some 5,000 members of the Fascist German State (DRP) Party who sought to hold two banned political meetings.

The crowds—3,000 in Nuernberg and 2,000 in Fuerth—had gathered to listen to Lt. Col. Hans U. Rudel, wartime air ace, who has been living in Argentina. Rudel was nominated as an absentee candidate by the DRP, but his candidacy was outlawed by state authorities.

The Nuernberg rioters, including about 100 paratroop veterans organized as a bodyguard for Rudel, defiantly sang "Deutschland Uber Alles," the German national anthem, before police dispersed them.

To the East, border police clamped on a near-blockade to deal with hundreds of Communist "shock troops" trying to slip into the country.

Red Envoy to Iran Ill; Suicide Try Indicated

By ROBERT C. DOTY
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

TEHRAN, Aug. 31—Antaoli Lavrentiev, Soviet ambassador to Iran, is seriously ill in his summer residence in a suburb of Tehran, it was learned today. There were apparently well-founded reports in government and diplomatic circles that he had attempted suicide.

The 50-year-old career diplomat suffered a severe setback in the events of the last 15 days in Iran, which say the country pulled back from the brink of Communist domination by a popular uprising that put Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi in power, replacing Mohammed Mossadegh.

Lavrentiev, who also had the bad fortune to be Soviet ambassador to Yugoslavia when Marshal Tito broke with Moscow in 1948, arrived here July 26, when the prestige of his government and of the Iranian Tudeh (Communist) Party were in the ascendant. His assignment was to conduct negotiations on pending territorial and financial issues between the two countries to pave the way for closer ties which western diplomats feared, would

On Aug. 13 Lavrentiev and his bosses in Moscow, saw this situation, full of promise for Soviet ambition, completely reversed.

100 Million Tag Put on Aid to Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 31—The U. S. Embassy has recommended emergency financial aid of $100,000,000 to Iran, informed sources said today.

Ambassador Loy Henderson and Point Four Director William L. Clayton called on Premier Fazlollah Zahedi today and were reported to have discussed aid.

Informed sources said the huge aid agreement would be signed soon.
Zahedi has pleaded openly for swift economic aid and said that following his overthrow of former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh he found the country's treasury almost empty.

Zahedi blamed Mossadegh's spending policies for placing Iran in its financial crisis.

August Output Surpasses July

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Industrial production was higher in August than in July, but output in both months was in a mid-summer slump, the Federal Reserve Board reported today.

It said vacations in important manufacturing industries and coal mines were major factors in keeping August output under the June level.

June production stood at 240 on the board's statistical barometer, in which the 1935-39 production average is 100. The June figure was 233. The August figure is expected to be 238 when all information is available.

Electric Brain Guides Planes; Homes Near Airports Made Safer

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—A thoroughly tested electronic "brain" which can keep low-flying planes away from crowded cities by guiding them to airports by the shortest possible distance was unveiled for the general public for the first time today.

It is called DME—Distance Measuring Equipment—and it makes approaches even to the most crowded airports as precise as approaching crowded cities in an automobile by way of express highways. Today's demonstration meant it is ready for general airlines use.

DME has two parts—one part in the plane, which is "the interrogator," the other part at the airport, which is called "the transponder." Interrogator sends out high frequency pulses. These set off transponder into returning pulses to interrogator.

The time between the sending of pulses by interrogator and interrogator's reception of answering pulses is measured in millionths of a second. These millionths of a second automatically measure the distance of the slanted line between interrogator in the air and transponder on the ground.

The distance is translated automatically onto a dial as easy to read—when you know how—as a clock's face. Interrogator's sending of pulses and transponder's sending of answering pulses is continuous. Thus, the pilot knows at all times during his approach his precise distance from the airport where he is going to land.

DME gives him distance only. He gets direction from the existing electronic system which is called VOR—Visual Omni-Range—and sets compass direction on the basis of relation to magnetic north.

Together the two form a navigational system that makes the now generally used "triangulation" or "fixed position" system obsolete.

The triangulation system requires planes to fly at low altitudes over crowded city areas in approaching many airports because of the locations of the "fixed points." It also requires them to fly in triangular patterns when "stacked up" over crowded airports while awaiting their turns to land.

DME eliminates all that. It means safety for city areas in the environs of airports. It also means much less noise overhead, since planes no longer will be circling while waiting to land.

Allies Plan Meet Today To Set Political Parley

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(INS)—The U. S. announced today that it will meet Tuesday with its 15 United Nations allies who helped fight the Korean War to "discuss a time and place" for the coming political conference.

The State department said the meeting will be held in Washington at 2:15 p. m. (EDT), and that the United States will urge that South Korea be invited to attend.

First public word of the gathering came from South Korean Foreign Minister Yung Tai Pyun, who was informed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that the meeting was being arranged.

Pyun said he believed the first order of business would be a recommendation on the location of the Korean political conference. Strong sentiment has been expressed in the UN for Geneva, Switzerland, site of the old League of Nations.

The South Korean official said he would hold himself in readiness to attend Tuesday's session.

He explained that the UN representatives, after convening, would decide whether to ask him to participate.

The United Nations general assembly recessed last week after voting to limit the political conference membership on the UN side to nations which actually took part in the fighting.

No agenda has been drawn for the conference, which must be held before Oct. 27.

Ice Packs Conquered To Feed Weatherman

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Alert, the world's northernmost weather station, has been resupplied by ship despite one of the heaviest polar ice packs known to veteran Arctic explorers, the Navy announced today.

Led by the Navy icebreaker, Staten Island, ships unloaded a year's supplies for the base on Ellesmere Island.

The Staten Island fought her way through two-mile floes of 40-foot ice for five days before reaching the weather station.

We Salute
THE ATLANTIC COMPANY

Melting in the burning summer's sun? Shivering in the icy blasts of winter? If you've done either, then you have probably called upon the services of ATLANTIC COMPANY.

Not only does this firm deal in these vital commodities that defeat the disadvantages of weather, but they have placed their facilities close at hand. Seventy-five E-Z curb service stores are strategically located to serve those who appreciate planned efficiency, convenience and economy. Many a package of "cube" and "nut" ice has been sold in waterproofed bags this summer... just one of countless convenient items available at these handy curb stores.

The firm was organized in Atlanta back in 1910 as The Atlanta Ice and Coal Corporation. It's grown considerably since then, averaging 5,000 employees in 9 Southeastern states. With the repeal of Prohibition, the company entered the beer business. Commercial cold storage is now a large factor in their growing enterprise.

C. D. Castleberry, the company's president, who joined the firm in 1921, looks to the expansion of facilities to meet the increasing growth of the Southeast.

Come winter or summer, Atlantic Company will be on the job!

Taxes Are Matter Of Take and Give

No one likes taxes and the tax gatherer is never an entry in popularity contests.

Of late, the states, faced with their own rising costs, have been attacking the Federal Government for its tax collections.

Most of the time, these critics at the state level fail to discuss the fact that it was the failure of the states to assume certain responsibilities which forced the Federal Government into fields requiring money for support.

Georgia, for example, has been one of the loudest in its complaints.

Meanwhile, the states themselves have been quietly making their own "take" in taxes. Now it is reported that Georgia was 16th in the nation in 1952 with $218,055,000 in state taxes collected.

Should we complain? Only if the taxes are being wasted. There is no reason we shouldn't be as high as 16th in state taxes paid, we are 13th in population. The $62.30 per capita in Georgia is below the $68.04 national average for taxes paid to the state government.

Now to return to the other side of it.

Georgians last year received more income from government sources than any other Southeastern state. The U. S. Department of Commerce reports a total of $839,580,000 was paid to our residents by local, state and Federal Governments in the form of wages and salaries, net pay of the armed forces, family allowance payments to dependents of enlisted military personnel, military allotment payments, mustering out payments, benefits to veterans, interest to individuals, public assistance, social insurance funds, etc. These payments did not include those made under soil conservation, highway, educational and other programs in which the Federal Government co-operates with the states.

When all payments from government to residents in the Southeast are lumped together, it is found they comprise 19 per cent of all forms of income.

Where does this come from? Taxes. Does this mean we like taxes? Not at all. It means we are trying to present the picture in a more complete form than ordinarily is provided by politicians "hollering" about the taxes someone else imposes in an effort to cause the people to overlook the ones imposed by the fellow doing the "hollering."

'Plan of Improvement' Wins at Gainesville

The City of Gainesville more than doubled in area and grew 3,500 in population last week as the residents of an outlying area said yes on annexation. The vote for the Hall County seat's own "plan of improvement" was preponderantly positive.

We congratulate Gainesville on its physical growth and its progress. We commend as well those in the annexed area for their good judgment in voting themselves into the city. Too often the attitude in the suburbs is a desire for city services with no desire at all to help bear the cost of providing those services.

America Has Stake In German Election

An off season, politically speaking, in Georgia and the nation gives us ample time to look in on elections abroad. This week the spotlight is on West Germany where a general election will be held next Sunday, Sept. 6.

The vote will be the second in the four-year history of the Federal Republic of Germany. Probably 25,000,000 of nearly 33,000,000 eligible Germans will go to the polls to select 484 members of the Bundestag or Lower House of the German Parliament.

Within 30 days after the election, the Bundestag membership will choose a federal chancellor, the real head of the West German government.

The present chancellor, Dr. Konrad Adenauer, is a candidate for re-election in that he is campaigning for the return to office of his party, the Christian Democratic Union-Christian Social Union. The opposition is spread among several parties, but it centers largely in the Social Democratic Party led by Erich Ollenhauer.

Dr. Adenauer himself sees the outcome of the election as determining the fate of Germany, of Europe and of Christian civilization.

He may not be exaggerating. The importance the Communists place upon the results may be seen in their attempts to influence them, the most flagrant being the pouring in of Red agents to disrupt the Sunday vote. Fortunately, the West German government seems to have broken up the invasion.

Germany will be in the news increasingly as election time nears. Every American will do well to watch developments. Surely we have a stake in the campaign. An Adenauer victory will be cause for celebration.

Billy Sanders Draws Safe-Driving Pattern

For being a "peach" of a driver, a young Fort Valley lad with a penchant for safe wheeling has been tapped for honorary membership in the Peace Officers Association of Georgia.

When Billy Sanders, 16, received his driver's license six months ago, he had no idea that a short time later almost every movement he would make behind the wheel of a car would be observed carefully by law enforcement officers.

The unsuspecting Billy soon impressed his watchers with his driving habits, which included obeying speed laws and stop signs, parking properly, giving correct hand signals and making turns at the right time.

It was a simple process that Billy used to gain his merited recognition. Perhaps too simple, judging from the manner in which many older, "wiser" heads race madly along the highways, blissfully and often fatally ignoring the fundamentals of safe driving.

Billy Sanders has set the pattern not only for his youthful contemporaries, but for his elders as well.

Federal Career Men Deserve Fairer Deal

While it is the custom of men and women holding nongovernment jobs to cheer loudly at news of federal payroll reductions, the human side of such news is almost entirely ignored. The fact is overlooked that such slashes often remove career persons who have given a quarter century or more to their jobs and who cannot, because of age, easily obtain other employment.

Therefore, we hope the chairman of the Civil Service Commission will accept, and move with speed, to carry out common-sense suggestions by Rep. Edward Rees (Rep., Kans.) that these ousted workers be given jobs now being held by so-called temporary employees. In his letter to Civil Service Commissioner Phillip Young, the Kansas wrote:

"Very frankly, thousands of qualified career employees who have lost their jobs are, as you know, upset by finding that after as much as 30 and 35 years of service they are out looking for jobs, while thousands of temporary employees—who have never passed a Civil Service examination or satisfactorily completed a probational period—hold government positions."

"Another very sore point is that promotions are being made in the federal departments and agencies while at the same time career employees are being separated."

He added that the presence of so many temporary and indefinite employees on the government payroll sprang from failure of the departments and agencies to fill permanent positions up to the number they had as of Sept. 1, 1950.

All this adds up to the fact that the federal agency heads have not acted with fairness or with discretion. Under the whip of economy, they have revealed their own incompetence as administrators by firing career persons and hiring "temporary" workers.

We earnestly hope Representative Rees will follow up his letter with all the pressures he can muster.

Wall Street Journal 'Germ' Bug Made A Tasty Morsel

Some years back there was a great to-do about the college fad of swallowing goldfish and there were solemn predictions that those who practiced it would come to as bad an end as the fish.

But some returning American prisoners told how one GI turned the psychological tables on the Chinese Communists during the germ warfare propaganda. The Chinese called together a group of GIs and tried to convince them that U. S. forces were dropping in North Korea bugs impregnated, dipped or dusted with deadly germs.

The Americans were hard to convince so the Chinese produced a bug, placed it on a table, and announced that there was one so dangerous that everyone in the room had best keep his distance. Whereupon one GI walked up, popped the bug into his mouth and promptly swallowed it. That just as promptly ended that particular germ warfare indoctrination course.

Let Courts Rule On Labor Disputes

WASHINGTON—More important than the current news of strikes, the palaver about "thought control" and the loss of liberties, and about "witch hunts" is the 20-year trend in America toward the fascist concept of government control of the relations between employers and employees. And yet a brief news item that tells of a pivotal development in that field of governmental activity got inconspicuous attention last Saturday, largely because its significance is not apparent on the surface.

The item said: "Guy Farmer, Eisenhower-elected chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, fired his fourth-in-a-row dissent today against decisions handed down by holdover members. His action was taken to indicate the board will make a basic shift in interpreting the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Law when the administration acquires a majority of the five seats on the National Labor Relations Board. This is expected soon."

An NLRB source, noting Farmer's ruling, said, "this signals an important change in policy." The change-over is expected as soon as President Eisenhower fills the one remaining board vacancy to give the Republicans a three-to-two majority.

The country would be shocked if it read a news item saying the Supreme Court of the United States would change its decisions as soon as a new political party came into power.

The late President Roosevelt and President Truman "packed" the labor board with a majority of partisans. Then the board went on to make rulings which have approximated the Fascism that Italy experienced under Mussolini. Freedom of speech, supposedly guaranteed to everybody by the Constitution, was taken away from employers under the Wagner Act. They couldn't even assemble their employees in the shop and talk to them in free America about problems of mutual interest.

One wonders how so-called "liberals" can justify their conspicuous silence on the infringement of freedom of speech which the labor board has perpetrated in its long line of decisions.

No labor board of transient membership is likely to win the respect of either employers or employees. If the Congress will prescribe legislative standards and write them clearly, life-appointed judges on the federal bench can do a better job of constraining the law than can labor board members whose tenure nowadays coincides more or less with the term of the political party in power. Time would be saved and basic precedents more quickly established if the labor board became solely administrative and the courts alone dealt with the judicial problems arising under the law of labor-management relations.

U. S. Sales Tax Would Be Unjust

WASHINGTON—At the Treasury department and in the House ways and means committee these days the experts are investigating our hodgepodge tax system, which has just "grown" like Topsy through the years, with a view to streamlining it and, if possible, getting more revenue. What the great rank and file of taxpayers, who bear most of the burden, should be concerned about is that revision of our tax system also be fair and equitable; that present gross inequities by which many top-bracket taxpayers evade their just share be eliminated, and that no new curlicues that are unfair be slipped into the law.

In the last category is a general sales tax which is now being hinted recurrently by Secretary of Treasury Humphrey.

It is hard to take Humphrey seriously. He has a reputation as a perceptive man who should know from long experience something about the economic facts of life faced by the overwhelming majority of our people.

They know from the simple arithmetic by which they try to make their incomes go round, especially at this time when the cost of living has reached an all-time peak, how unfair and discriminatory would be a federal sales tax, as it would take for the necessities of life a much larger proportion of their income than it would from the well-fixed.

Powerful financial interests see this administration as a vehicle to put over finally, after many tries, a general sales tax so that this revenue source would reduce their own income taxes.

These interests have effective propaganda instrumentalities at their command, and the smooth, slick and seductive arguments already are beginning to appear. Among them is that we already have too many federal excise or sales taxes. True, but they are chiefly on luxury and luxury items. The caliber of economic interests that are pushing the sales tax campaign is exemplified in two of its chief promoters—the National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Consumer and labor groups are fighting it bitterly.

It seems reasonable to ask Humphrey if, before he resorts to a general federal sales tax, he intends to seek elimination of numerous and patent loopholes in our present tax laws by which affluent taxpayers, both individual and corporate, now avoid their just share of the tax burden.

Perhaps most glaring of them is the 27½ per cent depletion allowance for oil companies, a flat deduction before taxes, in addition to which oil interests also get other exemptions. Will Humphrey seek, as has every Secretary of Treasury for 15 years, to get this scaled down to a reasonable figure and to limit its application to actual risks peculiar to the oil business instead of applying it wholesale in a fashion that has been a bonanza for giant oil companies?

That's the Ticket

Educator Scores Dr. Kinsey's Idea Of Changing Laws to Fit Behavior

Wadley, Ala.—One can hardly help being intrigued by Professor Kinsey, the expert on sex. He starts on research in the field of science and by that process arrives at competence in the social sciences. He has discovered that great irregularities in sex behavior exist. Those of us who have been alive since World War I have had a suspicion that these existed, but our information has been fragmentary. Now that a careful study has been made, Kinsey is saying our laws must be changed to conform to our behavior.

It remains now for someone to study our behavior with respect to honesty. We believe almost everyone has been guilty of some stealing, whether it was a watermelon or a railroad. However, we need accurate information, and then we shall be in position to write new legislation that will be in harmony with our practices.

We surely shall not want to penalize anyone for larceny if the practice is general. There is a lot of homicide, too, and we need information, if we are to have adequate legislation in that field. Perhaps we shall decide to penalize only the third murder or even have open and closed seasons for hunting the human male or female.

Perhaps what we really need is a new Moses to rewrite for us the Ten Commandments. Surely they should be put in harmony with our present practices. Until that is done, however, I shall continue to hold them valid. I shall continue to believe that no great civilization has existed or will exist where self-desire takes precedence over self-discipline and where chastity, honesty and integrity are thrown to the wind.

Astin Incident Showed That Mixing Politics and Science Is Dangerous

WASHINGTON—It is rather rare for a cabinet officer or other high official of the government to make a mistake and then admit it by taking corrective action. Human frailty being what it is, the usual course is for the official to compound his error by defending it to the bitter end. Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks has shown himself to be of different clay. True, he may have been pressured into restoring Dr. Allen V. Astin to his place as head of the National Bureau of Standards after ordering his summary dismissal last spring.

The scientific fraternity of the country raised a holy ruckus over the action, and there were reports that Eisenhower took a personal hand in seeing that matters were adjusted in a proper way.

But the fact is that Weeks, after turning the case over to an independent body of scientists for investigation and report, reversed himself completely and unobtrusively. He has gone further by taking the great government scientific testing agency out from under the jurisdiction of the department official, Assistant Secretary of Commerce Craig R. Shafer, who was reputed to be responsible for the removal of Astin.

For this facing up to the fact that he had made a grievous error and was in an impossible situation, Weeks is to be warmly commended. He might have acted less ates of my children. Each state should defend its rights and be allowed to work out its own problems. We in Georgia know ours and we do not wish the national government to encroach upon our prerogatives.

Children and Horns Called Worst of the Noisemakers

Atlanta—People grow so bad in their mannerless behavior, consistent disregard of other neighbors and lack of consideration that I believe they take their lives in their own hands, in spite of laws, education, church, etc.

Living in an expensive apartment project myself, I can tell you "the noise is terrific." Parents sit out on the lawn and let their offspring run around the whole day, looking on as these darlings outdo each other screaming, whistling, howling like Diesel or factory whistles. In their apartments, they don't tolerate as much as one loud word, to be sure.

These parents know exactly when they themselves want privacy and quiet and are quick to enforce it. But people who have grown-up children or no kids at all, are just lost from nervousness and lack of privacy and being put down by people who take more rights than they want to give.

There is no help against these things. In June, we had a "noise-abatement week," but I did not find anything in the papers except one story on Sunday—about horn-blowing motorists on the streets. This is certainly not the most noise there is in our city. There are kids, Diesel engines howling at the most appropriate moment and frightening everybody, factory horns and street building machines. All are more powerful than the colorless, unorganized motorist on transit through the city.

NOISE-HATER.

God's Psychiatry Was Final Choice

Do you think "God's Psychiatry" is a good title for a book? Recently that has been the main question around our house. The word psychiatry comes from two Greek words—psyche and latreia. Psyche is variously translated as breath, soul, mind, reason and the like. Latreia means treatment, healing, restoring. Put the two words together and we have "the healing of the mind" or, as David might have said, "the restoring of the soul."

I set out to write a book explaining the basic principles given to us by God to live by. It seemed to me those principles were summed up in four passages of the Bible: The Twenty-Third Psalm, The Ten Commandments, The Lord's Prayer and The Beatitudes. So I wrote my book in four sections seeking to explain the meaning of those four passages and how we could live by them.

Finally the manuscript was finished and sent to the publishers. They wrote back saying the manuscript was all right but not the title. I almost gave up because to argue with a New York publisher is about as futile as trying to find a parking place downtown. Mr. Davies of the Fleming H. Revell Co. is a good man, but he can be mighty firm.

However, he told me he was making a trip South and would stop by and talk with me. He came to our house for dinner and we put before him our best food and most charming manners. As he finished eating and was feeling good and friendly, I said, "Now about the title, 'God's Psychiatry'?" After some talk he told me that all their salesmen were to meet before long and he would put the matter before them.

As I expected, he wrote that the salesmen all agreed another title would be better. But I kept insisting and, to my surprise, they finally gave in. Now I must wait and see if it really is a good title. The book will not be on sale until the last of November.

Title or no title, I am sure of one thing. If a person will take those four passages, really study them and sincerely seek to live by them, his life will be happy and successful. Try reading the four passages at one sitting and you will see that each makes the others clearer.

The Twenty-Third Psalm gives us the right way to think of God. The Commandments give us God's laws for life. The Lord's Prayer teaches us how to talk to God. The Beatitudes give us the keys to the Kingdom of God. You do not need my book or anybody's book. Just read the passages for yourself and listen as they speak to your life and your situation. You will find healing—the healing of God.

This Is First September Morn

Thirty days hath September, of which this is the very first. Among the other 29 are Labor Day (the year at the very latest), the autumnal equinox, Citizenship Day (the 17th) marking the birthday of the Federal Constitution, the 14th anniversary of the first shot in World War II, and the anniversary of the Battle of Lake Erie in 1813 when Commodore "We Have Met the Enemy and They Are Ours" Perry defeated the British, two ships, two brigs, one schooner and one sloop. Originally, September was the seventh month. Hence, the name from the Latin septem or seven. The early Romans had only 10 months, starting with March. Which was grossly unfair to those with birthdays in January and February. September is famous otherwise for the rain, you know "September in the Rain." Also for a painting made in 1912 by an artist named Paul Chapas of an unidentified lady who rose to go swimming with the dawn, but little else.

In case you've forgotten, September, 1952, brought Ike to Atlanta and Dick Nixon to the mourners' bench. September always brings fall (this year at 3:07 a. m. on the 22nd) football, fair time, and the frenzy of getting the kids off to school on time. Speaking of school, a young man in New Jersey has quit a teacher's desk at $85 a week for the driver's seat on a brewery truck at $137.50. A good raise, if he doesn't fall off the wagon.

ters," she said, "and his latest letter said he had received more than 50 of them. He wrote that he would just have to wait and see about the situation when he got home."

She also said she had received a letter from Mrs. Dixon last week in which Mrs. Dixon requested to be notified at once if word of Dixon's release came.

Mrs. Storey also said that both Agnes and Irma were working in the DuPont plant at LaGrange, North Carolina.

As to her brother's release, she said, "I'm so thrilled I can hardly talk."

Mrs. Dixon, 22, a petite blonde, met her second husband when she was working at Ft. McPherson and he was stationed in Atlanta.

Dixon's name appeared on a prisoner of war list in 1951, and Mrs. Dixon petitioned for annul-

5 Georgians Released at Panmunjom

home at 35 Artillery Dr., Columbus, from a movie when a Constitution reporter telephoned the residence.

A sleepy-eyed youngster, aroused from bed, answered the phone. He was Paul Jr., 6.

"Hello, hello, I can't hear you. My daddy's free? That's fine. We'll have a big time when he comes home."

WAITED THREE YEARS

Then his mother arrived and took the telephone:

"I can't thank you enough for calling me," she said. "We've waited almost three years for this news."

Mrs. Liles said that Paul Jr. and his four-year-old brother, Don, "have been counting on their father's release for a long time."

Colonel Liles was captured on Oct. 27, 1950 while serving as a military advisor with a South Korean unit. He wrote his wife that he was the first American captured by the Chinese.

CAPTURED IN 1950

"He had been in combat only 27 days and was taken prisoner when the Red Chinese first moved into Korea," Mrs. Liles said.

A combat veteran of World War II, he holds the Bronze Star and other awards and decorations. He is a Regular Army officer.

The mother of Lieutenant Hill received the news of her son's release at Radio Station WGST where she and her two daughters have watched the prisoner release news for the past week.

"I didn't even know for sure that he was a prisoner," cried Mrs. Hill when announcer Bob Siegrist broke the news to her.

Mrs. Hill, a widow, told The Constitution that her 31-year-old son, whose wife and child reside in Laurel, Miss., was reported missing on Nov. 9, 1952.

OFFICER ON B-29

He was a radar officer on an Air Force B-29 that crashed in North Korea, she said. He was listed as missing, but never reported to be a PW.

Mrs. Hill's hopes for survival of her only son were boosted Sunday night when two members of the plane's crew were released in the PW exchange.

"I'm... I'm trying to be calm about it," the emotion-choked Atlanta mother said after hearing the news. "I'm so happy and excited I don't know what to do."

A World War II veteran, Lieutenant Hill has served 12 years in the armed forces.

J. J. McLaughlin of Savannah said he had been "waiting two and a half years to hear that news." His son, Major McLaughlin, was captured on Nov. 30, 1950.

BROTHER LIVES HERE

Eugene J. McLaughlin of 3230 Mathieson Dr., N. W., Atlanta, is hoping Major McLaughlin, his brother, will be home in time to be his best man on Sept. 26.

The 25-year-old Atlantan, associated with a lumber company, will be married to Miss Mary Ann Kane of 2672 Peachtree Rd., Northwest.

"I sure hope he'll be home in time for the wedding," McLaughlin said.

Major McLaughlin, 34, a World War II veteran, holds the Silver Star and other awards and decorations for action in the Pacific campaign.

GRADUATED AT EMORY

He joined the Marines after graduating in 1941 from Emory University where he was a member of Kappa Alpha and was president of the political science fraternity. He also was active in athletics.

Major McLaughlin has two other brothers, James L. and Robert C., and a sister, Mrs. Mar-

Mock-Up Caravan Nears Trip End

By JOE RICKENBAKER

Constitution Staff Writer

WRIGHTSVILLE, Aug. 31—The big mock-up, a model of the huge U. S. Air Force C-130A cargo plane, passed through here this afternoon on the last leg of a 4,000-mile journey.

Making nearly twice the speed anticipated, the mock-up convoy was scheduled to arrive at Eatonton to spend Monday night.

Mock-up is an Air Force term for a life-sized dummy of an aircraft. The mock-up now traveling from Savannah to Marietta is a copy of the plane that is to be produced in quantity by the Georgia Division of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation.

12 VEHICLES

The convoy of 12 vehicles which left the Savannah Docks this morning on the 300-mile overland route, traveled at a rate of about 20 miles per hour, much faster than had been anticipated.

The two sections, weighing some 25 tons, began the trip to Georgia in Burbank, Calif., Aug. 1. It was loaded on a ship at Los Angeles and brought to Savannah through the Panama Canal and unloaded on the state docks Aug. 26.

Hundreds of Georgians along the route watched in amazement as the two giant sections on a specially prepared trailer truck were herded down the highways by four State Patrol cars and four Lockheed cars.

Also in the convoy was an extra truck cab and repair truck along with newspaper and magazine reporters and photographers.

HUNDREDS LINE ROUTE

Riding ahead of the convoy was a State Patrolman warning cars off the highway. The dummies are so wide that in many places they completely blocked the highway.

Many seeing the red warning lights on the trucks and cars asked if there was an accident. Others thought it was a military convoy until the giant plane sections came into view. One little garet Douglas, all of Savannah. His wife lives in Charlotte, N. C.

"I'm just so happy I can't talk," said Mrs. Johanna Martinez, 910 Winston Rd., Columbus, after learning her husband had been released.

She said her husband had been a prisoner since Dec. 1, 1950. She said Sergeant Martinez, 32, is a World War II veteran.

The Communists announced they will release 100 more Americans in Tuesday's exchange.

The convoy made numerous stops as Lockheed engineers and transportation experts checked to see if the precious cargo was being damaged. Stops were made to lift electric wires so the bulky load could pass under.

At Swainsboro the Lockheed crew was met by a shouting crowd of several hundred, mostly small boys who ran a mile

Tuesday morning the models and their escort will continue to Decatur where they will wait until midnight to begin the trip through Atlanta. Estimated time is 5 a. m. Wednesday, one day ahead of schedule.

5-YEAR, $10-MILLION OUTLAY

Plans for Water System Outlined

Willing Water: precocious, phantom public relations professor of Atlanta's municipally-owned utility, the waterworks department, for years had a slogan which ran as follows:

"Atlanta grows where water goes."

Then, came the Plan of Improvement, adding 82 additional square miles of area and another 100,000 in population to Atlanta and Willing Water changed his tune.

Sadly but realistically, Willing had to admit:

"Atlanta grows where no water flows."

Always a "man" of action, he called a high level conference to initiate the greatest expansion and service program in Atlanta history—a two-pronged, five-year attack calling for an outlay of $10,000,000 to take water to new citizens.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

Paul Weir, waterworks manager, Mayor Hartsfield, Councilman James E. Jackson, water committee chairman, and Finance Committee Chairman Ralph Huie were among those summoned to the first conference which launched the attack. Divided into two sections the program called for:

1. Installation of vitally needed new mains, fire hydrants, strengthening and boosting existing mains.
2. Capital improvements including a new 20,000,000-gallons-a-day purification plant and pumping station on the Chattahoochee River, a 36-inch main extending 57,000 feet from the Adamsville area northeast to Buckhead, elevated tanks and booster stations.

CERTIFICATES SOLD

The first part of the program, now in its third year, is being financed by the sale of waterworks certificates, $9,937,000 of which were issued in 1951. The last sale of $3,000,000 in April brought a premium of $106,639, the best in history.

The capital improvements section of the program, the estimated cost of which recently was hiked from $5,000,000 to $6,323,000, is expected to be financed by the projected 1954 bond issue.

Designed with an eye to future demands, as well as present ones, the program has resulted in the establishment of a 2,000,000-gallon water storage tank in West End (cost $400,000) and the cleaning of water mains to increase pressure in the older sections of the city at a cost of $25,000. Another storage tank is planned for the East Atlanta-Kirkwood area and miles of new mains have been laid to get water to new areas.

RECEIPTS INCREASING

Income of the department for 1952 was $4,489,058.36 or $397,126.10 less than for 1951. The plan became operative in 1952 and at the same time the practice of charging double for consumers outside the city limits was abandoned. This cut the gross receipts. But already this year receipts are nearly $50,000 more than they were for the same period last year, an indication, according to waterworks officials, that the drop in receipts will be absorbed before the end of the year.

The water department pumped an average of 57,000,000 gallons of 100 per cent pure water a day in 1952 and is exceeding that

By HERMAN HANCOCK

figure this year, according to Willing Water. Other figures show

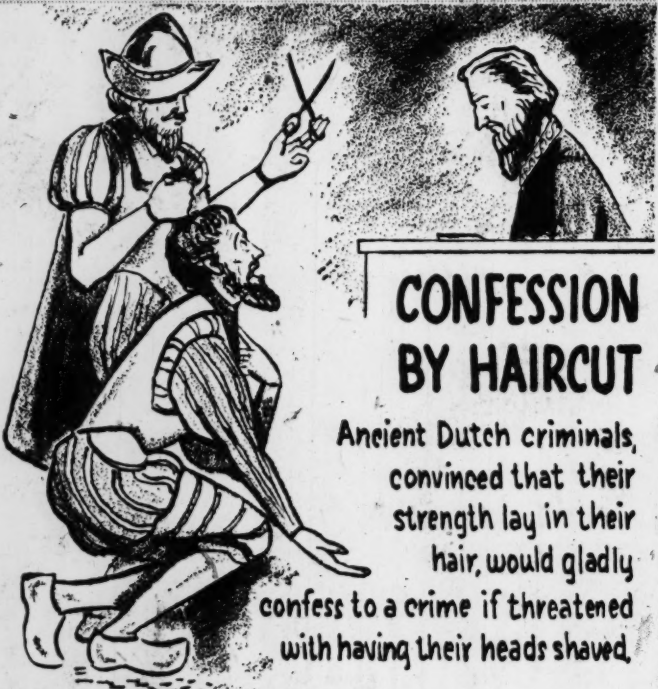

5,626 meters installed in 1952, a gain of 1,545 over the preceding year; 430 applications for new mains in 1952, compared to 157 for 1951; 1,012,559 meters were read last year; 983,249 water bills made out with 99.7 per cent of them collected.

The construction, distribution and maintenance services are handled by 300 employees. The department operates 82 pieces of automotive equipment and each unit traveled an average of 6,300 miles last year. Ninety-eight miles of new mains were installed in 1952, and 378 main breaks and 258 broken fire hydrants were repaired.

"Water in Atlanta is still the cheapest commodity anyone can buy," Willing Water says. "It costs five cents per ton—cheaper than dirt."

HAIR-ISMS by Blair

"TONICS" PREVENT BALDNESS

Many moderns try to correct excessive hair loss with various pseudo-scientific "cure-alls" that are supposed to regrow hair as if by magic.

The truth is, there are 18 local scalp disorders that result in excessive hair loss. No one remedy has ever been discovered that will correct all of them. Actually, one of the main causes of baldness is simply bad hair care—years of improper washing and neglect complicated by frequent dousings with those very alcohol- and petroleum-base "tonics" that are supposed to prevent baldness.

Don't let any "hair-isms," old or new, influence you to mistreat your hair. Baldness is a handicap. And it can be avoided if you see your Voss hair expert in time. He'll help you save what you have—and put your scalp in condition to grow thicker hair.

The News says the amount of the estate was disclosed in an inventory filed in Surrogate's Court here over the week end, and that the estate consisted almost entirely of government and municipal bonds.

by the Senate committee on internal security.

He said the report shows there has been Communist infiltration in this country, that it has been effective and has been harmful.

BALKING AT PROBES

He also said that anyone who refused to co-operate with congressional committees in the court by pleading self-incrimination "forfeits his right to work for the United States of America" and also "disqualifies himself from teaching in any school, public or private."

Nixon spoke after Past National Commander Donald R. Wilson, Clarksburg, W. Va., delivered a violent attack on the United Nations.

Wilson told the delegates the "United Nations chowder and marching society" should be watched to make sure "it doesn't eventually give away your children, your rights, your citizenship and your flag."

Wilson said the Legion must see "that never again is an American army ordered to shed its blood and denied the right to destroy the enemy."

He said other UN member nations "have a fast line of very sophisticated diplomatic talk. They drink with their enemies and let men who kill our troops argue about how we run your business. They have harbored Communies and traitors."

"SICKLY BLUE FLAG"

"Let's make sure," Wilson said, "that our future generations don't have to die under a sickly blue flag with a world bled white in the middle."

The President said the nation is withstanding the "trials and strains, both military and economic, imposed on us by aggressive forces who hope to wreck our life and freedom."

Mr. Eisenhower said these stresses "cannot be evaded. They must be clearly faced, wisely evaluated and courageously met."

Some 50,000 Legionnaires and their wives were here to attend the convention, which continues through Thursday. They filled every hotel room and every public place within 30 miles of St. Louis.

Fielding D. Russell Jr., William Don Russell, Dick R. Bowden, Hugh Peterson Jr., S. Gordon Green Jr. and Alexander Russell Junior.

Meanwhile, tribute to "Mother Russell," as she was known to friends and family, poured in from many sources Monday and flags at the State Capitol in Atlanta flew at half staff in her honor.

TALMADGE TRIBUTE

Many of the messages of condolences were from members of Congress and other political figures throughout the nation.

In a formal statement, Governor Talmadge said that all Georgians will mourn Mrs. Russell, "who enriched the lives of everyone of us."

"Through her remarkable family," he added, "through her work in the church and for all that is good, her life will be held in tender remembrance by all who knew her."

Mourning his mother's death along with his brothers and sisters, Senator Russell recounted innumerable blessings that came to him from his mother.

"Mother taught us everything," he said. "Our religious training began early and was very thorough."

In addition to Senator Russell,

Mother, 5 Children Die in Blazing Home

UNITY, Pa., Aug. 31—(AP)—

A mother and her five children were burned to death today as the woman's husband watched helplessly while their 110-year-old frame home was destroyed by fire.

Dead were Mrs. Hattie Krizanich, 35; Janet, 10; Paul Jr., 8; Larry, 5; Karl, 1½, and Shirley, six weeks.

The father, Paul Krizanich, 40, had to be dragged from the home by firemen as he tried to crawl through a broken window into the flaming building.

she is survived by the following sons and daughters:

Judge Robert L. Russell, William J. Russell and Dr. Alexander Russell, all of Winders; Dr. Henry L. Russell, Montgomery, Ala.; Fielding D. Russell, Statesboro; Col. Walter B. Russell, Fort Myer, Va.; Mrs. S. Gordon Green, Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. J. K. Stacey and Mrs. S. R. Sharpston, Washington; Mrs. James H. Bowden, Atlanta; Mrs. Hugh Peterson, Ailey, and Mrs. Raymond L. Nelson, Flemington.

There are also 36 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

In addition, he said, the city will spend 6,200,000 marks $1,530,000 to give needy families half a ton of coal each.

Reuter said each unemployed person would get a relief bonus of 60 marks ($15).

RELIEF FOR WEST

Mayor Ernst Reuter of West Berlin announced a relief program for needy residents of this Western island more than 100 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Reuter told the City Council the administration would hand out before Christmas packages containing butter and skimmed milk to some 565,000 needy West Berliners.

He said the CARE organization had donated 1,800,000 pounds of butter and 2,700,000 pounds of skimmed milk, with the city paying only the transportation and distribution costs.

In addition, he said, the city will spend 6,200,000 marks $1,530,000 to give needy families half a ton of coal each.

Reuter said each unemployed person would get a relief bonus of 60 marks ($15).

2 PW Ships Due Carrying 471 This Week End

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31—

Two more ships will reach San Francisco this week with a total of 471 Americans released this month from Red prison camps in Korea.

The Navy's big hospital ship, Haven, is due Friday, Sept. 4, with 104 POWs and 371 other military patients. The ship is expected to arrive about 1 p.m. EST.

A troopship, the Marine Adder, is expected to reach Fort Mason the following day. The arrival hour had not been determined today. The troopship is carrying 367 POWs and 1,475 military personnel coming home on rotation.

Early next week the transport Gen. John Pope will reach San Francisco with 428 POWs.

Man Jailed Here On Car Charge

A 25-year-old Chattanooga was committed to Fulton Tower under $2,000 bond Monday on charges of violating federal stolen car laws.

James Donaldson Bates waived a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Frank Holden on charges that he transported a stolen car from Knoxville, Tenn., to Carnesville. He will be arraigned in U. S. District Court at Macon.

FIFTH GRADERS LINE UP FOR REGISTRATION IN DECATUR SCHOOL
Wilson Mitcham, Phillip Langley, Tommy Goddard, Patricia Strickland, Ellen Strickland, Blake McCleod and Joe George registered by Mrs. E. R. Patterson.

140,000 Pupils Expected To Jam Fulton and DeKalb School Rooms

Overtures of school bells already are sounding in the Atlanta area. Early registrations indicate that approximately 140,000 children will attend city and county schools in Fulton and DeKalb this term.

Decatur schools will open Tuesday morning. Preschool enrollment leads city school officials to predict an increased number of students in all the nine white and Negro schools. City School Supt. O. L. Amsler estimated the enrollment would be near 4,000.

Miss Ira Jarrell, Atlanta school superintendent, predicted the year's enrollment in all Atlanta city schools will reach 93,000—a record figure.

In Atlanta about 3,000 teachers will attend conferences Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to prepare for official school opening Friday. Registration begins Thursday for "students new to our system," Miss Jarrell said.

FULTON REGISTRATION

Fulton County schools will begin registration in the high schools Tuesday, continuing through Thursday. Elementary registration will be Wednesday and Thursday.

Paul D. West, county superintendent, said approximately 21,200 are expected to attend county schools this term. Classes open for a half-day schedule at 9 a. m. Friday.

DeKalb Superintendent Jim D. Cherry expects more than 22,000 students when classes get underway with a full-day schedule Thursday. Preschool registration was completed last Thursday, he said.

He pointed out that DeKalb's

46 schools are opening with 120 new classrooms.

LABOR DAY HOLIDAY

All schools in both counties will take a holiday Labor Day, and reopen Tuesday.

Atlanta's 119 schools will meet the record enrollment with a record number of classrooms, Miss Jarrell said. But double sessions will again be necessary in some schools to meet the demand of 93,000 students.

The city superintendent said five state school building authority projects providing 16 new classrooms and other facilities at a cost of $287,097 have been completed.

She said double sessions for some classes are expected at Benteen, Lakewood and Peykerson white schools and at Hill and Walker Negro schools.

ADDITIONS COMPLETED

Additions financed by the State School Building Authority already completed include those at Brandon, Mt. Vernon, Roosevelt and Whiteford white school and Wesley school for Negroes, Miss Jarrell said. She added the $116,408 addition of five classrooms and other facilities at Rockdale Negro school is almost complete.

Miss Jarrell said four other projects under the $7,010,000 expansion program financed by the State School Building Authority will be completed before the end of the year. They will raise the total number of new classrooms to 54 and the overall outlay to $806,043.

The four projects and their scheduled completion dates are: Carey School, Sept. 15; Slater (Negro), Sept. 21; East Lake, Oct. 15, and Rock Springs, Dec. 1. Other projects under the program will be completed before the 1954-55 school term opens.

GRATEFUL TO CHURCHES

Miss Jarrell praised 18 churches and other organizations for making space available for

2,687 students so that some double sessions could be avoided. She said the co-operation given the school system indicates "a desire to help us meet our ever mounting problem of more students than we can provide space for."

New kindergartens will be open this year at Stanton, South Atlanta and Oliver schools for Negroes; and at Carey, Ben Hill and Benteen white schools. No kindergartens can be opened at Anderson, Arden Road, New Hope, Hapeville or Philadelphia Negro schools or at Mayson or West Haven white schools because space is lacking.

The Atlanta Transit Company will run special busses to 38 schools to provide transportation for students living distances too far to walk.

The first class of Negro children with cerebral palsy will be opened this year at the C. W. Hill school. The faculty was made possible through the co-operation of the Department of Health, the Georgia Society for Crippled Children and other organizations.

3,000 SEATS NEEDED

Major headache for the new year will be the finding of seats for the additional 3,000 children who will attend Atlanta schools this year, Miss Jarrell said. A $13,000,100 bond issue has been proposed, she said, for an expected increase of another 13,000 students in Atlanta schools by 1955. It probably will be considered in a projected bond issue sometime next year.

Miss Jarrell said the following

LaGrange Suit Seeks Seized Slot Machines

Three LaGrange men Monday filed suit against U. S. Marshal Joe B. Harrison in an attempt to retrieve six slot machines FBI men seized from an Elks Club lodge in LaGrange last February.

Court officials said this is the first suit of its type brought here by claimants of seized machines.

Several cases based on the controversial federal law regulating gambling machines have been tried here, but they were brought by the government in an attempt to condemn the seized machines, the officials said.

The point in question is whether or not the federal government can seize machines which have not moved in interstate commerce since Jan. 2, 1951, when the federal law became effective.

Pending a U. S. Supreme Court decision on the matter, federal authorities are continuing to seize the machines, but officials said a victory for the LaGrange men might stop the seizures until the high court rules.

The suit was filed in U. S. District Court here by D. S. Martin, A. J. Jarrell and P. T. Hipp, trustees of the lodge. They ask a judgment of $4,000 or return of the machines.

They claim the machines were bought in Georgia before Jan. 2, 1951, and have not been taken across state lines since then. They say Harrison has custody of the machines now.

organizations have made space available without cost to the Atlanta schools this year to relieve overcrowding.

Blair Village, where 516 students will be given classroom space in 24 apartments; Second Ponce de Leon Baptist Church and Peachtree Road Methodist Church, where 551 students from R. L. Hope School will be taught; Audubon Methodist Church, Cascade Presbyterian Church and a parks recreation building, where 345 students from Cascade School will be taught; Ben Hill Methodist Church, providing space for 60 students from Ben Hill School; Trinity Presbyterian Church, 120 from Brandon School; Antioch Baptist Church, 80 from Benteen School; Cascade Baptist Church, 155 from Connally School; Second Ponce de Leon Baptist Church, 91 from Garden Hills; Moreland Avenue Baptist Church, 215 from Gordons; Lakewood Heights Baptist Church and the Salvation Army, 150 Lakewood students; Scout hut, 160 from Normanside; Health Center, 34 from Perkins; Oakland City Baptist Church, 133 from Rapdale; and parks recreation building, 32 from Goldsmith.

Caught in Middle?

Fireman Docked Day

Sometimes a fireman's lot, like that of a policeman, is not a happy one. Hoseman W. F. Sanders of Station 18 proved a case in point Monday night.

The board of firemasters upheld the recommendation of Fire Chief Styron that Sanders be docked a day's pay for insubordination.

It was maintained Capt. E. H. Freeman ordered Sanders not to command a hose company and that later Capt. L. E. Fain ordered Sanders to do so. Sanders declined, the meeting was told.

"Captains should get together and not countermand orders," said Ald. Milton Faris. "If this continues, we should try some captains."

Fulton Boys Win $300 by Proxy

Two East Point boys who are victims of muscular dystrophy won $300 by proxy Monday on the coast-to-coast "Strike It Rich" television program originating in New York.

Bobby Carroll, 14, and Wayne Carroll, 11, sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Carroll, 1113 South East Point St., were awarded the money by one of the "helping hands" on the program to buy wheelchairs.

Atlanta Used Car Exchange Week is Under Way...It's Your Chance To... OWN A BETTER CAR

ATLANTA USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK

Sponsored by The Atlanta Journal-Constitution in Cooperation with Greater Atlanta Automobile Dealers

AUG. 28 thru SEPT. 5

VISIT ANY DEALER
DISPLAYING THIS SIGN

Suddenly you find yourself faced with one of the greatest opportunities you've ever had to drive a better automobile. Dealers all over Greater Atlanta are co-operating in one big Atlanta Used Car Exchange Week. From every angle this week spells OPPORTUNITY in capital letters for used car buyers. Dealers have an unusually fine selection from which to choose and there are many exceptional values.

Many of the cars offered in this gigantic sale are 1953, '52 and '51 models and that means more modern styling, smoother, more powerful engines, greater luggage space, better brakes and other safety features unheard of when your old car was built.

If you are driving an out-moded car, NOW is the time to switch to a safer, better, more modern car. Your present car may be enough for the down payment and you can pay the balance on EASY terms.

ATLANTA USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK ENDS SATURDAY NIGHT, SEPT. 5

Herb Shriner Slated To Get Big Reception

Herb Shriner, Hoosier comic whose homespun wit has skyrocketed him to fame in television, will be given a rousing reception here Tuesday when he arrives for a series of appearances in behalf of the American Red Cross blood bank program.

Shriner, an antique automobile fancier, will take part in a parade of old-time automobiles from the airport to Capitol Avenue and Memorial Drive. The parade will begin at 10:45 a. m. when the plane arrives from Chicago.

After his arrival, Shriner will appear on John Farmer's "TV Ranch" program on WAGA-TV at 12 noon and he will take part in Red Cross ceremonies at Plaza Park beginning at 12:20 p. m. The Third Army band will serenade those gathered at the park.

The antique automobile caravan will resume its parade at 12:30 p. m., proceeding along Peachtree Street, through Five Points and thence to the Biltmore Hotel, where Shriner will attend a press luncheon.

A tour of the Marietta plant of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. will follow at 2 p. m. The day's activities will be completed when he attends a reception at 5 p. m. at the Biltmore.

Shriner is expected to visit briefly in the Paradise Room of the Henry Grady Hotel, where he has appeared on three other occasions, during the floor show there Tuesday night.

Rodgers Seen '53 Tech Quarterback; Small But Tough Butts Squad Ready

Summer Jobs Kept Bulldogs In Good Shape

By EDWIN POPE
Constitution Sports Writer
ATHENS, Aug. 31—Wallace Butts knows he is meeting his smallest University of Georgia football squad in a decade Tuesday morning. He has the happier suspicion that it may be the best-conditioned at season's outset.

Only scrimmaging will tell the true tale of the Bulldogs' individual physical qualities in the brief span between the first practice and the Sept. 25 opener with Villanova at Philadelphia. But rarely has a batch so closely followed Butts' habitual early summer directive to "work hard . . . get in shape . . . stay in shape."

The 39 upperclassmen who'll sweat out about a six-hour opening day, worked at every "vacation" occupation from digging potatoes to loading freight.

Gene White, senior end, had the hottest duty—gathering wheat in Kansas. Sophomore end Butch Mulherin and soph quarterback Jimmy Harper shared the coolest—lifeguarding in Augusta and Thomasville.

All-America quarterback candidate Zeke Bratkowski got a year's jump on a post-college future by selling insurance in Danville, Ill. His bosses made sure the job entailed lots of leg-work.

Four Bulldogs—senior center Derwent Langley, senior tackle Bill Young, junior tackle Frank Malinowski and senior end John Carson—were summertime soldiers. Langley trained at Tyndall AFB, Carson at Fort Benning, Young at MacDill AFB, Malinowski at Fort Knox.

Cleve Clark, soph end, and Knox Culpepper, soph fullback, toiled concrete blocks as construction workers in Albany and Columbus. Soph end Matthew Arthur and junior fullback Bob Clemens farmed a la Madison, Arthur on his father's Fitzgerald spread, Clemens at Scottsboro, Ala.

Tackle Walter White, a sophomore, directed recreation for the city of Toccoa, and had mountain company. Soph guard Bill Saye, soph halfback Jimmy Williams and soph tackle Jerry Griffin were leaders at Athens Y Camp near Tallulah Falls.

SEC Coaches Crying As Drills Open Up Today

Player Losses, One-Platoon Top Topics for Moaning

By THE UNITED PRESS
Pads will be donned and locker rooms filled for the first time Tuesday on Southeastern Conference college campuses but the blues about injuries, graduation and mainly the end of the two-platoon football are already being sung by SEC coaches.

Coaches and players alike will hit the field in the morning hours on the 12 campuses in the conference Tuesday as the SEC swings into pre-season workouts—with most scheduled as two-day affairs.

Coach Red Drew, whose Crimson Tide at Bama is supposed to be the cream of the conference this year, expected to have 59 players on hand for the opening session, including 28 lettermen.

Georgia Tech, last year's champ, gets off to an early lead in one respect. The Engineers have 31 returning lettermen, the most of any SEC squad.

Tennessee, a perennial nationally-ranked powerhouse, figures to have trouble getting to realize General Bob Neyland isn't at the helm anymore. The outlook for newcomer Harvey Robinson isn't helped any by the fact that one of the Vols' smallest squads since the end of World War II is expected to report Tuesday.

At LSU, Coach Gaynell Tinsley actually sounded happy about the end of the two-platoon rule. "We've been forced to use our men for both offensive and defensive work in the past. We'll be in better shape than most of our opponents," he said.

Florida's troubles center on injuries, the draft and eligibility. The Gators ace fullback Rick Casares won't be on hand Tuesday due to injuries received in an auto wreck while second stringer Bob Mueth told coach Bob Woodruff he won't be at school this year. Tackle George Medved was lost to the draft and guard Bill York and End Don Barnes are ineligible.

On the campus of Ole Miss, where mention of Georgia Tech is liable to start a riot after last year's Sugar Bowl "heft," Coach Johnny Vaughn said "every spot is wide open" on his squad.

HIS BOYS ARE TOUGH
Georgia's Wally Butts

senior fullback Charles Earnest, a counselor at Clayton's Camp Pinnacle.

There were four truck drivers. Junior end Joe O'Malley delivered steel pipe in Scranton, Pa., soph guard Don Shea shoved packages in Philadelphia, center Clayton Grubbs delivered groceries in Bradenton, Fla., and senior guard Bruce Wimberley piloted a breadwagon in Augusta.

Soph tackle Buddy Mathis stayed here for summer school. Another soph, guard Willie Fowler, took off into the softest assignment—visiting brother-in-law Ransom Jackson, who plays third base for the Chicago Cubs.

They'll all carry the conditioning, they hope, into two-day drills until about Sept. 10. Tuesday will be particularly rigorous. There's a two-hour session in the morning, another two-hour posing period for photographers, then the regular afternoon workout.

Baseball Claims Another Georgia Grid Candidate

SHELBURNE FALLS, Mass., Aug. 31—William (Bunky) Mazenc, 200-pound, hard-hitting catcher, signed a contract Monday with the Brooklyn Dodgers. He will report March 1 at spring training.

Mazenc had been scheduled to leave for the University of Georgia Monday as a football prospect.

Many Lessons To Be Learned By Rookie Dad

A rookie father, boyish, plump and burrheaded Pepper Rodgers, will walk into a new responsibility when the football cask is uncorked at Georgia Tech Tuesday.

"He looks like our quarterback," said Coach Bobby Dodd on the eve of opening football affairs at The Flats, where the most handsome collegiate record in the country is now being maintained. "He's not the best passer in the world, but he's a hard worker who gets the job done. He's got a great spirit and he's a good leader. He looks like the No. 1 man."

This is not to indicate that the most controversial varsity job at Tech is being awarded to new papa Rodgers without a wrestle. The former Brown High star will still have to beat off the insistent challenges of Bill Brigrman, the incumbent. Burton Grant, the sophomore of promise, and Jack Hall, Augusta's prep hero of the year two seasons ago.

For one thing, Rodgers must learn the tricks of the defensive trade. One-platoon football to him consists only of the stories he hears the oldtimers tell of the good old days. He makes his acquaintance with the new grade of football this year under circumstances that will demand a firmer passing game to shuffle up its running attack.

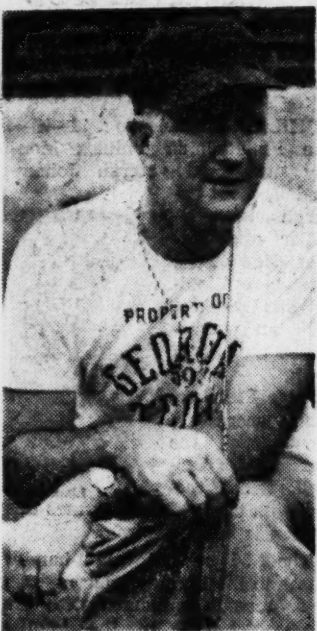

He must be a better passer than he has been and must be able to play a passable game of defense.

Tech ran up its string of 26 games without defeat under the platoon system. It is, then, with much bitterness that the switch to the old system is being made. Several young athletes who would have been offensive or defensive regulars are sure to find themselves bench regulars now.

The Engineers hit the practice field at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, mostly for the purpose of picture-taking. They'll be back at 4 p. m. for the first of the serious business of defending their SEC title. This two-day plan will continue for two weeks.

"We got a lot of work to do," said Dodd, "and not enough time to do it in. We'll work two-a-day and get to the scrimmages early."

His first will be Thursday, more or less of the plan of a year ago. But the rock and the sock won't get rough until Saturday. From that day on it's every man for himself.

40,000 DUCATS DEALT FOR GEORGIA OPENER

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31—Sale of a block of 40,000 tickets for the Villanova-Georgia game—probably the biggest one-shot deal in college football box-office history—was disclosed here Monday by Villanova College.

The buyer, American Stores Co., plans to distribute the tickets through some 144 stores in Philadelphia, "at no profit to ourselves," said Sales Manager Spencer S. Heaney.

Villanova's athletic director, Bud Dudley, described the big transaction as one step in a program through which he hopes to fill every one of the 103,000 seats in Municipal Stadium for the night game on Sept. 19.

"Frankly," Dudley told newsmen, "we want to stimulate home town interest in our school and in our football team. Our success in this regard this season may determine whether Villanova continues intercollegiate football."

"We hope we can. We even hope to play better and more difficult schedules than we face this year."

The purchase price for the big block of tickets was not disclosed but Dudley, discussing other plans under which Villanova is offering tickets to boys clubs, industrial groups and others indicated that it probably was considerably below the face value.

Heaney told reporters that his company plans, on certain days, to give customers a $2.60 face value reserved seat ticket with each $10 grocery order purchased in Philadelphia area stores.

He described his firm's participation as an evidence of support for a "community-wide program of a Philadelphia area college."

The game itself ought to be one of the early-season standouts. Villanova expects to have a powerful team, as good or better than the club which won seven, tied one and lost one last year.

Greer Likes Crowds, Has 63 To Prove It

By Jimmy Mann

BILLY GREER, a man who doesn't mind crowded golf courses, ripped five strokes off par at James L. Key last Saturday to take the medalist lead in the Club Championship tournament. At the same time Greer was setting his mark, players at Key were establishing a record of their own over Teddy Hayes, par 68 trial and error acres. Hayes reported 650 rounds of golf played at Key Saturday and Sunday. It set a record for the summer and is high in the all-time books for the course. And Labor Day week end comes next. . . . Harry Schneider got news for somebody. He qualified for the Key classic with a 52-36-88. That's a third flight total with a championship flight second nine. He's a "dark horse". . . . Hayes has extended his qualifying dates through Labor Day.

EAST LAKE'S BOBBY PIERCE is the new junior champ. Pierce took the prize Sunday over Bob Boyleston. The new junior king won the match on the front nine holes when he posted a one-over par 37. Tommy Bates took the 17 and over class from Rickie Lovell. Other winners included Bob Allen, Steve Fellows and Charlie Barnes. . . . Abe Massar, Bobby Jones player, and Bill Ansley, American Legion par-buster, met at Adams Park last Friday. Ansley posted birdies on 11 and 12 for wins. He eagled the 16 and got nothing but a tie. Both hit the par-liver in two. Massar canned a 12-footer. Ansley nudged in a three-footer. Bob Klippenger and Bob Dallas watched the assault on Adams back nine.

AARON JACKSON, the winner of the 1933 Atlanta Open two weeks ago, hit the headlines again Sunday when he posted low score in the Oak Ridge Invitational. He pocketed $100 for a 69-70-139 total. . . . Tuesday, 37 amateurs fire 36 holes in a bid for six places in the National Amateur at Oklahoma City Sept. 14-17. At East Lake, the man to beat is Tommy Barnes. He had 69 Sunday. . . . C. A. Barnes, Pete Barnes, W. L. Bender and Dr. A. O. Finch were Sunday dog fight winners at East Lake. . . . T. E. McGee stopped foes Harold Sargent, Jack Lyle and George Griffith last week with an eagle two on the par-four seventh. He canned a five iron on the 360-yard test. . . . Mickey McCarthy and Graham George won't forget the last hole at Candler Park for a long time. Both boys carded their first in a life-time birdies on that hole during the same round. Dennis Fischer was watching.

VAN VAUGHN, the showoff, had a couple of golfing gals, Vera and Thelma Mitchell, at Bobby Jones last week. Vaughn dropped his tee shot on the eighth hole for a hole-in-one. . . . Rome's Dick Hackett was two under par when he defeated Doyle Heaton, 11 and 9, for the Coosa Club Championship Sunday. . . . A special father-son, father-daughter feature at East Lake last Sunday, saw Charlie Barnes and lassie Charlotte take one-half and Dr. Fred Lovell and Rickie top the other half. . . . Dan Eubanks, 77, won the blind bogey at West End Sunday. . . . Qualifying is going hot and heavy at Meadowbrook for the Invitational coming up this week end. Besides Gene Dahlbender's 67, Irby Broadwater has a 69 registered. Weldon Brand and Bob Spence have 74s and Jimmy Lynch, Cortez Suttles and Tracy Barnes fired 75s. . . . Qualifying ends Friday with 64 championship flights beginning medal play Saturday and six other flights bumping heads in match play.

SCHUTTEE SPARKLES

Chestnut-led Chamblee Best in Six Seasons

By JIMMY MANN

CHAMBLEE, Aug. 27—This 1933 prep football season can't begin too soon for Tony Palma, chalk and whistle man for the Chamblee High School Bulldogs.

The mustachioed coach with a gleam in his eye, 10 tough football games on his Region 2-A calendar and a boy in his No. 1 backfield named Alex Chestnut fears nothing and boldly asserts that this is his best team in six years at Chamblee.

This piston-legged Chestnut is 156 pounds of terror, according to Palma.

"The boy runs like a train," says Tony. "Last season he averaged five yards every time he carried the ball. And he loves to play."

Passing is a major part of the Chamblee offense. It has to be with the arm of Hub Schuttee under the center.

Schuttee, 159-pounder, who strengthens his arm in the spring and summer making long throws from his high school and semi-pro shortstop position, threw 37 passes in one game last year and connected with 28 of them.

"Nineteen of those 28 completions were to Gene (Jaybird) Hunter," said Palma. "Hunter graduated last June. I guess that's our biggest loss."

Although any man who hauls in 19 passes in one game can be considered a great loss, there's another boy wearing the 1933 blue and gold whom Palma terms as a "glue-fingered jackrabbit." Chuck Wilkinson isn't built like an end. He's 5-10 and weighs 175. But he catches them and runs hard.

This Schuttee to Wilkerson battery is the Chamblee trump card. Palma is a little old fashioned now; he plans to stay on the ground as much as possible.

All of the laugh wrinkles around Palma's eyes aren't for Wilkerson, Schuttee and Chestnut. A Chamblee sophomore named Park Turner weighing 165 pounds filled a backfield gap left open by the graduation of Bobby Brown, Ronald Clayton and Billy Donaldson. The 6-1 first year man lacks nothing but experience.

Mrs. Grady McDonald's 78 Takes Medal In City Meet

McDonald's 78 Captures Women's Amateur Medal

Meets Bellinger First Day;
Phelps, Staton Matched Again

By BERT PRATHER

Mrs. Grady McDonald of Ansley Golf Club strengthened her position as favorite for the 1933 City Women's Golf Championship when she posted a 39-39—78 to take the qualifying medal Monday afternoon at Druid Hills Golf Club.

Mrs. McDonald edged out East Lake champion Vi Givens by a single stroke. Mrs. Givens was out in 42 and home in 37.

Mrs. William Gailmard, another Ansley player, was third low qualifier with an 81 despite a couple of penalty strokes.

Match play rounds open Tuesday with Mrs. McDonald clashing with Mrs. Fred Bellinger, a former East Lake champion, at 9:18 a. m. Mrs. Givens opens against Mrs. Jim Flowers of Druid Hills, who qualified with a 92.

Luck of the draw placed City junior girls' champ Janice Phelps against City junior runner-up Dot Staton in the very first round.

Mrs. Larry Martin and Mrs. R. H. Dawkins earned their way into the championship bracket of 16 the hard way. Tied with Irene Aden and Mrs. L. L. Hamilton at 96 for the last two qualifying places, Mrs. Martin clinched her spot in the title chase on the first hole of the sudden death playoff, while Mrs. Dawkins nailed down her spot on the second.

Qualifying scores and starting times:
CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT 9:18
a. m.—Mrs. Grady McDonald, 78, vs. Mrs. Fred Bellinger, 90:1; 9:24—Carol Thomas, 85, vs. Frances Royal, 93:1; 9:30—Mrs. William Gailmard, 81, vs. Betty Vinyard, 93:1; 9:36—Mrs. Sidney Smith, 87, vs. Mrs. Larry Martin, 96:1; 9:42—Mrs. Robert Givens, 79, vs. Mrs. James Flowers, 92:1; 9:48—Mrs. S. ## Amateurs Begin U. S. Qualifying

East Lake Hosts Sectionals Today

Six passes to the 53rd annual United States Golf Association Amateur Championship will be at stake Tuesday at East Lake Country Club when 36 players from Georgia and one from Alabama tee off in the 36-hole sectional qualifying.

Tommy Barnes, the old reliable from Druid Hills Golf Club, who has qualified for 15 National Amateurs, is one of the top favorites to lead the field.

Other veteran qualifiers rated good chances to snag places are Billy (Dynamite) Goodloe Jr. of Valdosta; Hobart Manley Jr. of Savannah; Arnold Blum, four-time state and once Southern champion from Macon; ex-State stillist Dick Hackett of Rome, and former Southern king Gene Dahlbender Jr. of Meadowbrook Country Club.

Among the youngsters who may squeeze into the select group are Cecil Calhoun of Columbus; Wilkins Kirby Jr. of Newnan; Jack Lumpkin of Athens, and Tommy Bates of East Lake.

First twosome is scheduled to tee off at 8 a. m.

The National is scheduled for Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club, Sept. 14-19.

Tommy Bates, the 16-year-old East Lake star, shaved five strokes off Meadowbrook Country Club's par with a 32-34-66 Monday afternoon to move out in front of qualifiers for the third annual Meadowbrook Invitation, scheduled Sept. 5-7. Gene Dahlbender Jr., of the host club, holds down second with a 67, while Irby Broadwater of Legion Club is third with 69. One hundred and twenty-five players have already qualified. Officials believe the field will run well over 250 by close of qualifying Friday at 2 p. m.

Jerry Goss, who recently took over as head pro at Griffin Golf Club, plans a one-day invitation tournament for Wednesday, Sept. 16. Invitations will be sent out to all clubs within 100 miles of Griffin.

Casares' Court Date Delayed Until Sept. 11

Condensed from Constitution Wire Reports

A coroner's inquest into the automobile accident death of Florida fullback Rick Casares' woman companion was postponed in Tampa Friday to Sept. 11.

The continuance was granted on request of Casares' attorney and agreed to by the county solicitor.

Mrs. Nellie Clara Bourguignon, wife of an Air Force sergeant, was killed Aug. 23 when she and Casares were returning from Clearwater Beach.

The inquest was ordered when reasonable grounds were found "for believing that such death was caused by criminal negligence of another." Casares has also been charged with reckless driving and faces a hearing on that charge on Sept. 11, too.

J. Norman Lewis, the baseball players' lawyer, disclosed in New York that one of the main problems he was hired to handle involved the allocation of radio and television receipts to the players' pension fund. Lewis said the players themselves would not be called upon to pay his fee and hinted that he might be paid out of the radio and TV funds.

Florence Chadwick's oft-delayed attempt to swim the English channel round-trip, nonstop is on again for Tuesday. She'll start from Dover, England.

First Aid, second longest shot on the board, won the $28,075 Aqueduct Handicap in a three-way photo finish. First Aid paid $36.60, $17.50, $10.40. Combat Boots was second, paid $9.80, $6.80. Elzvir was $6.20 to show.

The New York Giants may have lost the services of defensive back Frank Gifford for their charity game with the Chicago Bears in Des Moines next Friday. Gifford twisted an ankle in scrimmage.

Billy Talbert, lamed at being unseeded for the first time in 13 years, and former champion Art Larsen dumped the Aussies in the National Tennis championships at Forest Hills. Talbert beat Rex Hartwig, the fifth-ranked foreigner, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, and Larsen whipped Clive Wilderspin, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Phillips Edits Football Book

A new book titled "Revolutionary Football," edited by Herbert (Swede) Phillips and including articles by such outstanding coaches as Wally Butts, Bobby Dodd, Jim Tatum and Tom Nugent, is off the press this week.

Phillips, recently at Georgia working on his doctor's degree and for many years a high school coach in Georgia and Florida, has chosen articles which deal chiefly with the daring and unorthodox in football.

Such innovations as the inverted quarterback, double T. Dissolving T are discussed and explained by coaches who have experimented with or used them successfully.

Tito Plans To Repudiate Part of Trieste Treaty

Revising Policy To Resurrect Claims Put Forward in 1946

By JACK RAYMOND

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

BELGRADE, Aug. 31—Yugoslavia is about to repudiate the clauses of the Italian peace treaty of 1947 that provide for the establishment of the free territory of Trieste under United Nations sponsorship.

Associated Press Wirephoto
TROOP MOVEMENT?
Belgrade Blames Italy

This is not so drastic a move as it may sound since the peace treaty solution for Trieste has been repudiated not only by Italy but by the United States, Britain and France which in 1948 called for restoration to Italy of the entire territory.

Yugoslavia is withdrawing her proposals for condominium rule of Trieste with alternate Yugoslav and Italian governors, as well as her proposal for establishing a Yugoslav corridor in Zone A, occupied by the United States and Britain, in exchange for Italian population centers in Yugoslavia-occupied Zone B.

DISCOUNTS WAR

A spokesman for the Yugoslav government said today that Tito's domain is revising her policy on Trieste to resurrect the claims she put forward in 1946, that is for incorporation of the entire free territory of Trieste, including the port city of Trieste into Yugoslavia proper.

This claim, it was stressed, is a policy claim "we certainly will not go to war to fulfill," the spokesman declared. He was referring to week-end movements of Italian troops to the Italy-Yugoslavia border in reaction to the Italian government's anxiety, that Yugoslavia's army might be preparing to formally annex Zone B.

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav News Agency, announced tonight that Yugoslavia tomorrow would deliver a vigorous protest in Rome against the Italian troop movements.

TITO TO SPEAK
For elaboration of the Yugoslav government's views on its Trieste policy, the spokesman said, one must wait until next Sunday. On that day President Marshal Tito is expected to address a rally at Okruglica, near the Italian border celebrating the Yugoslav annexation of the Littoral area held by Italy before the war.

The change in Yugoslavia's expressed policy on Trieste appears to be dictated by the feeling in Yugoslav government quarters that Italy may veer in her own policies toward accepting the peace treaty solution of the problem.

It was this feeling, combined with the belief that the western powers may be working out a course of action with Italy without consulting Yugoslavia that inspired the announcement in the semi-official news agency Yugo-press that Yugoslavia was "reconsidering" her stand on Trieste and would take measures to counteract the alleged "cold annexation of Trieste by Italy."

Tombstone Blocks Wife's Driving Lesson

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 31 (P)—Guy Hamblin thought a cemetery would be a safe place to teach his 59-year-old wife, Rosa, to drive.

But Mrs. Hamblin is in a hospital with fractures of a leg, arm and ribs. And Guy has a bump on his head.

The car went out of control and smashed a 20-foot tombstone.

EDUCATOR VS. KINSEY

In the Pulse of the Public on Page 4 the death of Alabama's Southern Union college takes up the pen against the famed Dr. Kinsey.

It had been 18 months since they had seen one another. He kissed her goodbye in Munich in March, 1952, and came home to try to get her into the United States.

Hall, a veteran of 11 years' military service, became engaged to Gerda in April, 1951. He said it was love at first sight.

He first applied for a visa for her in April, 1951, and became involved in a series of technical difficulties. The fact that her birthplace, Meglenburg, is in the Soviet zone of Germany, was one of the main stumbling blocks.

Finally, Representative Gathings (Dem., Ark.) introduced the special bill granting Gerda entrance to the United States.

Soviets Publish Note Denying B-50 Attack

MOSCOW, Aug. 31—Pravda today published a Soviet note to the United States Aug. 26, denying that Soviet planes shot down an American B-50 bomber last July or that any of the survivors had been picked up.

The latest in a series of notes between the two governments said the American aircraft flew over Soviet territory July 29 in the vicinity of Vladivostok and rejected as unsatisfactory American notes of July 30 and Aug. 3.

More than 60,000 people in Great Britain died in home accidents between 1940 and 1949.

250 Fired By Stassen After Tests

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (P)—Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen fired about 250 of his federal employees today, partially on the basis of a special "aptitude test" which he took himself.

About 100 more letters of dismissal will go out this week.

At the same time, Director Theodore C. Streibert of the new U. S. Information Agency sent out messages to 700 Americans and 1,300 foreigners already fired or soon to be dismissed from their jobs for economy reasons.

Streibert said the dismissals were due to Congressional slashes in President Eisenhower's budget. About 6,200 persons will remain on the Information Agency payrolls, including more than 3,300 foreigners in overseas posts and 2,800 Americans.

Dismissed employees were informed they could ask for a special review within the next 30 days and would get help in finding new jobs.

Stassen and C. D. Jackson, President Eisenhower's chief psychological warfare aide, both took the test. Stassen scored a slightly higher mark and won a 2-cent bet from Jackson. The job of neither was at stake.

Fraulein, 24, Legislated In To Her GI

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—A German fraulein arrived here today to become a bride, thanks to an act of Congress and the persistence of her soldier sweetheart.

Sgt. John Rufus Hall, 35, Forrest City, Ark., clutched a copy of the congressional law in his hand as he threw his arms around blonde Gerda Goersraugh, 24, at Idlewild International Airport.

He showed her the document, "H. R. 1124, An Act for the Relief of Gerda Goersraugh," to prove that Congress had helped their romance along. It was passed shortly before Congress adjourned and signed by the President in Denver.

It had been 18 months since they had seen one another. He kissed her goodbye in Munich in March, 1952, and came home to try to get her into the United States.

Hall, a veteran of 11 years' military service, became engaged to Gerda in April, 1951. He said it was love at first sight.

Flier Revealed AWOL; Puts Britain on Spot

NEW YORK TIMES NEWS SERVICE, Special to The Atlanta Constitution
LONDON, Aug. 31—The official mystery deepened today around Leading Aircraftman A. V. Rignen whose disappearance in Egypt July 9 caused a crisis in British-Egyptian relations and whose reappearance in Britain Saturday seems likely to create new embarrassments.

The British commanding officer claimed that he had been kidnapped by Egyptians but the Air Ministry announced today that Rignen had been formally charged with absence without leave from his RAF unit.

A ministry spokesman said the charge did not automatically rule out the possibility that Rignen had in fact been kidnapped. Regulations do not permit the RAF to hold him more than 48 hours without a formal charge. The investigation of the case will continue, the spokesman said, to determine whether the airman will be court martialled. If the court martial is held under the secrecy act, he added, the press and public will not be admitted.

Rignen saw his father and mother over the week end. He had been held at an RAF station where he will remain for the time being. An investigation of his case began this morning.

The situation is a difficult one because of friction between Britain and Egypt over British occupation of the Suez Canal zone. When Rignen disappeared in July the British commander issued an ultimatum to Egypt demanding his return. When he did not show up British military forces took control of traffic into and out of the Egyptian town of Ismailia for three days and the Egyptians protested vehemently against British "aggression" in their searching.

Rignen was found in Paris by a French policeman and brought to Britain under arrest. Government sources would not comment on demands in the Egyptian press for an apology from Britain.

India Asks Rejection of U. S. Report Calling Puerto Rico Self-Governing

By KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 31—India today disputed the United States declaration that Puerto Rico is a former territory that has achieved self-government, and expressed the opinion that the matter should be referred to the United Nations General Assembly for decision.

The issue arose in the committee on information from non-self-governing territories, from which the United States has asked approval of its intention to cease transmitting data on Puerto Rico in view of the island's present position as a commonwealth.

Pakistan and Iraq indicated support of the Indian contention, although exclusively on the ground that the question is a procedural one, rather than from the point of view of the substance of the matter.

CHOICE AT POLLS CITED

Brazil and Ecuador aligned themselves with the United States, emphasizing that the population of Puerto Rico had twice demonstrated at the polls its choice of status. Dr. Liu Yu-wan of Nationalist China declared himself of an open mind, but inclined to favor the U. S. position. Dr. Yu-wan called for a decision by the committee and said there had been a tendency to "pass the buck" in the prior and similar case of The Netherlands Antilles and Surinam.

In a lengthy review of the situation the Indian representative, Mrs. Lakshmi N. Menon, analyzed the status of Puerto Rico, in the light of factors outlined by the committee to determine at what point a territory can be considered to be self-governing. By this yardstick, she concluded, the island does not qualify for that category. She emphasized, however, her government's appreciation of the advancement made in Puerto Rico, and "the significance, indeed, the solemnity of this occasion."

She also expressed appreciation of "the loyalty" with which the United States has complied with the wishes of the General Assembly in its submission of information from Puerto Rico.

"NOT SEPARATE"
"Puerto Rico is definitely not a territory which has attained independence," nor is it separate in identity, Mrs. Menon said. Puerto Rico's status, she added, is "inferior to that of a state of the union," because it has "practically no representation, direct or indirect, in the Congress of the United States, which conducts the important subjects of foreign relations and national defense."

"This is where the confusion arises," Mrs. Menon said. "The

Hill Backs Democratic Loyalty Vow

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(INS). Senator Hill (Dem., Ala.) opposed today any move to modify the 1952 Democratic "loyalty pledge" at the party's forthcoming rally in Chicago.

In sharp contrast to some other Southern Democrats who have made it clear they will boycott the Sept. 14-15 Democratic meeting because of the 1952 action, Hill said:

"I'm a loyal national Democrat. Those who sit in Democratic party councils and who enjoy all the benefits and honors of the Democratic Party should be loyal to the party and its nominees."

"I don't think the 1952 pledge ought to be changed now. As a matter of fact, it probably couldn't be changed before the 1956 convention other than as a recommendation."

Hill said he has no intention of boycotting the Chicago rally honoring Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 presidential nominee, or its accompanying business sessions. He indicated he will not attend, but only because he sees nothing of a "serious nature" to require his presence in the face of other engagements. He said the Chicago sessions were set up mainly for Democrats from the Midwest who face re-election next year.

Hill does not run again until 1956. The controversial loyalty pledge was instrumental in splitting the Democratic South last year to the point that President Eisenhower carried four Southern states. As adopted at the convention which nominated Stevenson, it required state Democratic officials to make the best possible effort to win support of the party's 1952 nominees for president and vice president.

Sales Tax Delinquents Spotted by Machines

Bookkeeping machines are tracking down delinquent sales tax accounts.

State Revenue Commissioner Charlie Redwine said Monday they will greatly expedite and possibly increase collections of the tax.

At the same time, the commissioner announced that sales tax collections for the month of August led the department to a net increase of $267,623. The month's collections on all excise taxes netted $15,444,120.25.

The sales tax collections actually increased $324,000 over August, 1952, with $8,039,843 being collected. However, declines in income tax collections (caused by higher collection of federal taxes deductible from Georgia returns) partially offset the rise in sales tax collections.

INCOME TAX DROPS

The income tax collections dropped $500,608.72 to $635,074. Gasoline tax collections increased $297,676.37 for a net of $5,115,934.37. Slight decreases were shown in liquor, beer and cigarette collections.

Discussing the machines for sales taxes, Redwine said they were promised earlier but were not delivered, so the system was not put fully into operation until July 1.

"With about 75,000 sales tax accounts, we had to have machines to do our bookkeeping," the commissioner said. "But their greatest immediate benefit has been to furnish quickly an accurate list of delinquent accounts."

OUT OF BUSINESS

The first machine-made delinquent list disclosed that the state has about 75,000 active accounts, instead of about 90,000.

"We sent letters to everyone on the list," Redwine reported.

More Relief Indicated in Storm Areas

A modified federal policy on disaster aid may provide additional assistance for storm-damaged areas around Columbus and Warner Robins.

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson advised Governor Talmadge Monday it now "may be possible to extend federal assistance in some instances where the work was previously declared ineligible."

Talmadge forwarded copies of Peterson's letter to Mayors Lawrence Shields of Columbus and W. T. Giles of Warner Robins asking them to prepare detailed accounts of aid needed in accordance with the new policy.

Disaster aid was sought after storms raked the two areas last April, but under the policy then in effect, only limited assistance was made available.

Peterson mentioned specifically the Edgewood school, which was demolished by the Columbus storm, and removal of debris around Bibb City as probably eligible for aid now.

He said the same situation may prevail in other storm-stricken counties, but that "the financial condition of Columbus is such that we feel it does not warrant federal assistance" in debris removal.

District Court Slates Ward's Case for Oct. 5

Horace Ward's suit challenging the Georgia university system's segregation policy is expected to be tried Oct. 5 without further preliminary hearings, court officials said Monday.

The officials said that attorneys for Ward and the State of Georgia have agreed to dispense with a pretrial hearing, which was to have been held Sept. 2 before U. S. District Judge Frank A. Hooper.

Ward, an Atlanta Negro, filed the suit in federal court here in the summer of 1952 after vainly seeking admission to the University of Georgia Law School.

U. S. Jaycee Chief Slates Address Here Wednesday

Dain Domich, president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, will speak to the Atlanta Jaycees at 12:15 Wednesday afternoon in the Henry Grady Hotel's Dixie Ballroom.

Domich, a 35-year-old businessman of Sacramento, Calif., was elected to the Jaycees' top office in Minneapolis in June. He and his family now live in Tulsa, Okla., where he heads administrative work at Junior Chamber headquarters.

Son of a retired restaurateur who came to America 46 years ago as an immigrant, Domich joined a Sacramento sand and gravel company as bookkeeper on his discharge from the Army in 1945. He rose to comptroller of the company in eight years.

Suits Call For Slim Waistline

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Fashion note: Suits are fitted and narrow, and hug the waist. And there's the tip for late summer slimming—the waistline! In another couple of weeks you'll want to zip smoothly into a suit skirt, and that calls for a neat, sweet waist. Stretch-bends-turns are wondrously rewarding. There's just nothing that helps you feel so svelte.

MEASURE WAIST

First, measure the waist. If you've been tossing calorie discretion to the summer breezes and consuming cooling beverages and delectable carbohydrates with careless abandon, you've probably added a full inch and maybe more to the middle measure. When the oblique muscles that crisscross and cover the side-front of the silhouette lose tone, the area just south of the waist bulks out. All in all, it's no help to the fit of a skirt.

Ease into some stretch-bends and be a good inch slimmer in two weeks:

Position: Stand on knees, then sit back on heels. Have arms out at sides, shoulder level. Pull up snugly with lower abdominal muscles.

Movement: Bend slowly sideways toward right as you reach high up with left hand, and reach down with right fingers, bending until fingers touch floor. Then bend to the opposite side. In this exercise, be sure to put the emphasis on reaching up with the upstretched arm. It's slimming. Repeat slowly, half a dozen times, alternating sides.

Now for slimming
To put gimp in the bias muscles as you slim the waist, try this:

Position: Lying on back on floor, left knee bent, right leg straight down, arms out at floor on sides.

Movement: Twisting gently at the waistline, but keeping back on floor as much as possible, try to touch point of left knee to the floor at opposite side of right thigh. Try again, three times. Then repeat with the other knee.

Fulton HD Clubs To Meet

Several groups of the Home Demonstration clubs of Fulton County have set meetings for this week.

Tuesday there will be two gatherings. At 10:30 a. m. the Welcome All club meets at the clubhouse and at 2:30 p. m. the Red Oak group meets at the Health Center.

The Sandtown club meets at 1:30 Wednesday at the clubhouse and on Thursday at 10:30 a. m. the Baptist Rest group meets at the clubhouse and at 2 p. m. the Union City club meets at the city hall. The Bethany-Hopewell group meets at 1:30 p. m. Friday at the clubhouse.

Lady Cadet Corps Revived—But Grounded

By JEAN ROONEY

On week ends when most U. S. Servicewomen are changing into civilian clothes, a dozen young Atlanta girls slip into neat blue and white cotton uniforms and Air Force blue caps.

They form the Lady Cadet Corps of the Atlanta Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the U. S. Air Force.

AGES 15 AND UP

The air-minded young women, age 15 up, who pursue business and school careers weekdays, are volunteers in the newly revived feminine branch of the Atlanta CAP.

They meet from 2 to 5 p. m.

Sundays at CAP headquarters at the Municipal Airport.

So far, the lady cadets are "grounded."

"Those who wish will learn to fly later," their leader, Warrant Officer Abba M. McCumber, explained Monday.

But they are learning the ground duties that keep the planes in the sky in case of an air or sea attack to the Georgia coast line, Mrs. McCumber said.

Communications, such as sending and receiving radio code, is one of their lessons. Airport operations, such as planning flights, are also in their curriculum.

"And the girls are learning to use 'walkie talkies' for ground disaster work," Mrs. McCumber said.

AIRBORNE DUTY

The only airborne duty of the young women so far has been flying with CAP pilots as observers.

"They are learning to sight disasters and find ground markers as an extra pair of eyes for the pilot," their leader said.

Working closely with the Ground Observer Corps of Civil Defense, the lady cadets will soon participate in mock air raids, according to Mrs. McCumber.

Recruits in the corps would be welcome, she added. They should telephone Mrs. McCumber at Calhoun 3818 or Calhoun 6194.

Lozor Baby

Lt. and Mrs. Joseph J. Lozor announce the birth of a daughter, Susan Lucile, on Aug. 24 at the Georgia Baptist Hospital. Mrs. Lozor is the former Sarah Horne. Lt. Lozor is serving in the armed forces overseas.

Parent's Patience Helps Stop Children's Untruths

Though many of their wives will accompany the Chi Phis to Atlanta for their Congress on Sept. 9, most of the events on the agenda will be stag. However, the feminine visitors will be included in the dinner dance to be held at the Driving Club on Friday evening, Sept. 11.

The Congress will open with installation of officers at the Driving Club on Wednesday afternoon, a model initiation by Gamma chapter and a smoker to follow at the Biltmore Hotel.

The officers to be installed are Carl J. Gladfelter of Storrs, Conn., Grand Alpha; Hugh M. Dorsey Jr. of Atlanta, Grand Eta; Russell L. Guin of Danville, Ill., Grand Gamma; John E. Oliver of Atlanta, Grand Delta; Dr. Oscar E. Williams of Austin, Tex., Grand Epsilon; Joseph W. Cooper Jr. of Kent Woodlands, Calif., Grand Zeta; the Rev. Charles L. Glenn, of St. John's Church, Washington, D. C., Grand Beta; and Judge L. Z. Rosser of Atlanta, National Director and Editor of Chakett.

Other events include a stag barbecue at the Fritz Orr Club Thursday evening, and a candlelight ceremony by Omega chapter just before adjournment on Saturday.

Huey Child Is Christened

Clara Janet Huey, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Huey, was christened at the Church of St. Thomas More in Decatur. Father Thomas Ware officiated.

Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Zuber. The baby's mother is the former Elizabeth Harrison, daughter of Mrs. John M. Harrison Sr. and the late Mr. Harrison. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Huey.

No one expects an adult to grovel over a mistake. He makes one, he admits it, and it is all over. No one even asks him to say how sorry he is and how he never, never will do it again.

In fact, everyone, or nearly everyone, tries to forget the mistake as quickly as possible.

It would be pleasant if parents followed this principle with children, but all too often a mistake is not taken as such. It is taken as deliberate wickedness. From it must come a complete confession followed by spoken remorse with eyes brimming and head hanging.

Parents get highly excited about lying, as they should if it is a persistent habit, but they rarely realize why or how the habit started. They never ask themselves: Was I looking for it? Did I rub it in either by insistence or lectures or soap? Did I, after the first falsehood, ever give him the benefit of the doubt?

No child is born honest. Conscience is acquired; it develops slowly, a bit here, a bit there. Children have to learn many things. They have to learn to distinguish real from make-believe. They have to learn that shunting the blame on someone else does not protect them from the consequence of an act.

Children lie to get results, to avoid over-strict punishment, and to enhance their prestige.

If you punish a lie, not by washing a mouth with kitchen soap, but by indicating that you don't approve of lying or anyone who does it, and make this clear often enough, he will stop lying in time.

On the other hand, don't set your standards so high that he will have to lie to live up to them. Make the path of truth an easy ascent. Hold his hand while he climbs. Be truthful and open with him. Let him see that understanding must be based on truth.

Festive Days Planned for Nobles' Wives

Shriners' wives, about 1,500 strong, who are expected to attend the Southeastern Shrine Association's annual convention Thursday through Saturday in Atlanta, will find special events planned in their honor, according to Jack Chambers, convention chairman.

A small luncheon is planned for wives of convention dignitaries and national officials at noon Thursday, opening day, at the Capital City Club, the chairman said.

At 4:30 Thursday, all wives will join their husbands at a feast, carnival and water show at the Shrine Temple on Ponce de Leon.

A luncheon and fashion show planned exclusively for the Shriners' wives, will be held at 12 noon Friday in the Exhibition Hall of the Biltmore Hotel. A local specialty store will furnish the fashions, with Miss Alice Bell as commentator.

The women will join their husbands at a grand ball at 8:30 p. m. Saturday at the Municipal Auditorium, closing the annual meeting.

CASSEROLE KEPT HOT IN CANDLE WARMER
Serve Savory Noodle Sauce With This Baked Tuna Fish

Baked Casserole Features Tuna for Alfresco Dining

By JEANNE HIGGINS

Select your most substantial-looking pottery tableware, a generous salad bowl, a basket for bread, your heaviest and biggest glasses for brisk iced tea, gay linens and you're ready for another of those simple alfresco meals, meaning under the big blue canopy of the sky.

FUN WITH FOODS
Oh, there's just one more thing, here's a made-to-order casserole with that same casual atmosphere. Canned tuna fish eliminates several steps of preparation, and so does the soup mix used as a base for the sauce.

Try it soon, while the season's just right.

BAKED TUNA CASSEROLE

2 cups cooked green peas
1 cup cooked white onions
1 can (7 oz.) tuna fish

broken into bite size pieces
2 cups savory noodle sauce
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon melted butter
1. Arrange peas, white onions and tuna fish in layers in buttered casserole. Over this pour noodle sauce. 2. Top with soft bread crumbs and melted butter. 3. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F) about 15 minutes or until crumbs are golden brown. Serves six.

SAVORY NOODLE SAUCE

2½ cups water
1 package noodle soup mix
3 tablespoons butter or cooking fat
3 tablespoons flour
1. Bring water to a boil, add noodle soup mix and cook 7 minutes. 2. Melt butter or cooking fat in a saucepan and blend in flour. 3. Gradually add soup to flour mixture and cook over low heat until thickened.

Texas Family Visits Here

A family group spending a vacation here includes Mr. and Mrs. Talbot S. Huff, Miss Millicent Huff, Miss Jane Lou Huff and Talbot Huff Jr., from Austin, Texas, who are dividing their time between Mr. and Mrs. E. Z. Huff and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Huff.

Miss Millicent Huff, a student in the journalism department at the University of Texas, made a special tour of the Atlanta Newspapers during the week end. She is a member of the Theta Sigma Phi, national fraternity for women in journalism.

Family's Cruel Reminders Of Past Haunt Woman

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: When I was 15, I made a mistake. The man married me three months before my daughter was born but he never lived with me. I got a divorce a year later and went back to school, but it was awful. The students shunned me and my brothers and sisters were always reminding me of my past.

At 18 I quit school and married a farmer. I didn't mention my past to him, and we were happy for two years. Then our son was born and my sister came to visit, and behind my back she told my husband of my past. He began to hate my daughter, and said I'd have to put her in a home, that his son mustn't be brought up with her. I refused, and he left us.

I started over in a different state, taking both children with me, and I didn't write my people—I was afraid to. I put the children in a private school, and worked hard to give them the best in life. Now they are well-married with nice homes. I, too, married again six months ago. This time I told my husband everything, and he said "Let's forget the past; we are happy."

My son-in-law in his travels recently met one of my brothers, who told him of my past. I had a letter from my daughter, yesterday, asking the truth. What can I say to her? V. L.

DEAR V. L.: You were married to Ellen's father when she was born. Thus she is a legitimate child of both parents, and neither she nor her husband should give your brother's tattletale cussedness another thought. As for what to write her, why not send her this article?

As I see the picture, you've been more sinned against than sinning.

Your family's sly trampling of you, via crushing reminders and back-knifing gossip indicates that they had a hand in spoiling your life. They pushed you into the path of trouble.

As for Ellen's father; evidently he wasn't much good but, in marrying you, he acknowledged responsibility for the situation. And in so doing, he identified himself as the real wrong-doer, and you as the victim entitled to redress. After all, at 15, you were a minor, too young from the viewpoint of law to be weighed in the scales of judgment that apply to adults. Your present husband has the right idea—be happy henceforth and forget the past. M. H.

Annie Lou Hardy Teen-Age Visitors Enliven Social Scene

A trio of popular visitors is adding interest to gatherings of the teen-agers who are crowding all the fun possible into these last few days before school opens.

Pretty Diana Drexel, daughter of that former Atlantant, Mrs. Anthony Drexel III of Nassau, stopped for a visit to Gaynon Dinkler en route from Rockbrook Camp where she spent the summer. On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Corling Dinkler Jr. entertained at a barbecue around the grill at their home on W. Andrews Dr. in honor of their daughter and her guest.

After her visit here Miss Drexel will go to Selma, Ala., to visit her aunt, Mrs. Addison Davis, before returning to Nassau with her brother, Tony, who spent the summer with his grandmother, Mrs. Anthony Drexel Jr. on Long Island.

Arriving Wednesday from Clearwater, Fla., to visit Miss Vickie Kiser at the home of her mother, Mrs. Virginia M. Kiser on Brighton Rd. is Miss Nina Duane of Wilmington, Del., her roommate at Rogers Hall in Lowell, Mass. On Saturday Miss Kiser will be hostess at a soft drink party for Miss Duane. The two girls will again room together when they resume their studies at Rogers Hall.

A third teen-age visitor is Miss Mary Jean Cook of Albany, daughter of those former Atlantants, Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Cook, who is the guest of Miss Suzanne Meadow. Miss Meadow was hostess at a soft drink party for Miss Cook last week at her Ivy Rd. residence.

Vacation Vibrations

Atlantans Visit Mammoth Cave

By YOLANDE GWIN

An experience which she described as "like stepping from a Turkish bath into an ice cellar" will never be forgotten by Miss Glenn Candler, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Candler Jr., who visited Mammoth Cave for her vacation.

(One of a series)

"I have wanted to go there as long as I can remember," she said in discussing her visit to the largest known cavern in the world. "It was far more wonderful and strange than I could have ever imagined. Mother went with me and we stayed three days. There were small cabins near the cave's mouth where we spent the night."

"We went on the longest tour. It was seven miles and took seven hours. The cold dampness never varied during the trip. The temperature remained about 54 degrees the entire time."

"All of us carried lanterns and everything was explained by our guide. We had several stops along the tour including lunch at the Snowball dining room. Everybody wore sweaters and top coats and one woman on the party had on ear muffs."

Lunch consisted of two sandwiches, a package of potato chips, crackers, an orange, cookies, soup and hot coffee.

Due to the continued chilliness, Miss Candler said that frequent coffee stops were made.

The Atlanta schoolgirl and her mother "look in everything" on the tour. They rode across the Echo River which found its gloomy way through the miles of darkness beyond the reach of life.

"We were in a flat-bottomed boat which was about two feet deep in its center portion. It was a rather spooky feeling to be in the vastness of the cave. I kept thinking there was no change of season, no sounds from the outer world, no day nor night and no change of time.

"Once we stopped at the yawning mouth of a huge black pit that was more than 25 feet wide. I think we were all frightened. The guide said there was no cause to worry, for nobody had fallen in yet! Then another time when he saw some of us looking up at the great walls of crystallized rocks he said not to worry about them either, for until that time none of them had fallen on tourists!"

Women Threaten Male Roles In Today's Occupations

It's a man's world, but not for long, judging from a report released through the Atlanta office of the Commerce department.

The 17th decennial census shows thousands of women in the Southeast are serving in strictly male occupations.

For example: There are 14 women railroad conductors, 35 female locomotive engineers and 16 feminine locomotive firemen in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee and the Carolinas.

That isn't all. Among working women there are 45 blacksmiths, 504 job setters and metal machinists, 213 airplane mechanics and repairmen, 257 plumbers and pipe fitters, 13 structural metal workers, 55 plasterers and 9 toolmakers, die makers and setters.

Five Southern women hold the man-sized jobs of blaster and powderman, while 35 other members of the so-called "weaker sex" serve as boatmen, canalmen and lock keepers.

Also in the region are 36 women railroad brakemen, 36 chainmen, rodmen and surveying axmen, 5 bus and street railway conductors, 72 metal filers, grinders and polishers, and 44 furnacemen, smeltermen and pourers.

Four hundred fifty-seven females are listed as mine operators and laborers, 320 others and greasers and 149 sailors and deck hands.

The rank of bartenders include 618 women, while 72 boot-blacks are of the feminine gender. Gals also fill 239 posts as fishermen and oystermen, 68 are sheriffs and bailiffs and 205 are policemen and detectives.

Your Stars Today

DAILY GUIDE—Try to find something to be enthusiastic about today. Dullness has no part in today's activities. So many people miss so much because they lack appreciation of the little wonders which are all about us. We live in a fascinating world full of the most amazing things. Perhaps today you can take time out to look away from the daily rut of activities and discover something to stir your imagination. It is a day for gaining confidence, spreading cheer and exploring the unknown or little known realms of the world around us. It is an energetic day which should bring benefits to those who make wise use of the many opportunities.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, VIRGO! You are one of those who could make these days count heavily in your favor. You should be feeling energetic and eager to start some new project or get back to the old one with new enthusiasm. Seek promotion if you deserve it, and bring your business or career affairs to a peak before May of next year. After that the emphasis will be on social activities, club work or pleasant associations with your loved ones. If you are unattached, it might bring romance or friendship with unusual people. Right now the accent is on you, so get busy promoting yourself. In the late fall you may have to settle down to routine, mental concentration.

MR. AND MRS. C. A. POWELL and daughters, Virginia and Trudie, have returned to New York after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Powell.

AFTER A VISIT to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Clarke on Mt. Paran Rd., Chief Radioman Albert A. Clarke III, USN, Mrs. Clarke and their daughters, Sharon Lee and Deborah Ann, have sailed for a two-year residence in Naples, Italy. Mr. Clarke was previously stationed at Norfolk, Va.

DON BLOODWORTH, David Thomas, Tony Awtrey and Marshall Mahone are in Mexico City. They will tour interesting cities and resorts of Mexico before returning Sept. 15.

VACATIONISTS—Mr. and Mrs. John Waters of Marietta were photographed at the Macfadden-Deauville Cabana Club where they were entertained during a late summer vacation to Miami and Miami Beach.

MR. AND MRS. BOLLING JONES are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Woodruff at their TE Ranch at Cody, Wyo.

AN OVERNIGHT PACK TRIP was one of the experiences enjoyed by Mrs. Donald McLean on her visit to Cataloochee Ranch at Waynesville, N. C., where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vance of Columbus, Ohio. She returned on Sunday.

LT. ALEX C. KING III spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex King Jr., on Andrews Dr. en route from Ft. Jackson to his new assignment at Ft. Benning.

MR. AND MRS. BAXTER JONES have returned from a two-week trip to Toronto, Boston and New York. In Toronto they visited those former Atlantants, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Berry, and in Boston they attended the meeting of the American Bar Association.

MRS. NAT HARRISON JR. and her son, William Henry, born Aug. 22 at Georgia Baptist Hospital, have returned to their home on The Prado. Mrs. Harrison is the former Marion Bell.

AFTER SPENDING THE SUMMER with relatives in England, Miss Rose Moran has returned to her home on Standish Ave.

DR. AND MRS. THOMAS N. GUFFIN and their small daughter, Martha Ellen, have moved into their new home at 1476 Sheridan Pl., N. E.

LEAVING TODAY for Indian Rock, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Breen Jr., their daughter, Kathy, and F. L. Breen Sr. They will return in time to welcome Mrs. Breen Sr. on her return from Europe where she spent the summer studying art in Southern France. She will resume her teaching at the Atlanta Art Institute late in September.

DR. AND MRS. W. L. FUNKHOUSER returned Monday from Franklin, N. C., where they spent the past two weeks at Trimont Inn.

MR. AND MRS. C. A. POWELL and daughters, Virginia and Trudie, have returned to New York after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Powell.

AFTER A VISIT to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Clarke on Mt. Paran Rd., Chief Radioman Albert A. Clarke III, USN, Mrs. Clarke and their daughters, Sharon Lee and Deborah Ann, have sailed for a two-year residence in Naples, Italy. Mr. Clarke was previously stationed at Norfolk, Va.

DON BLOODWORTH, David Thomas, Tony Awtrey and Marshall Mahone are in Mexico City. They will tour interesting cities and resorts of Mexico before returning Sept. 15.

Mrs. Loyd, Joe Cheek Are Married

At a late afternoon ceremony solemnized at the Mikell Chapel of St. Philip's Cathedral, Mrs. Joan Anderson Loyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Anderson, was married to Bun Joe Cheek of Albany, with Dean Alfred Hardman officiating.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were hosts at a reception at their home on Sandy Springs Circle. Mr. Cheek is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Cheek of Roswell. Mrs. H. H. Tankersley was matron of honor, and Bill Ferguson was best man. Charles Allen Smith and Bill Baldwin ushered.

After a wedding trip to the mountains, the couple will reside in their recently completed home in Albany where Mr. Cheek is associated with General Electric Supply Co.

Stocks Hit New Low For Year

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The stock market dropped to a new low for the year today. It was the year's third worst fall.

All sections of the market were engulfed in the declines, especially the railroads. Losses extended to between 1 and 3 points with many issues going beyond that range.

The market has been sliding lower for the past two weeks with declines registered in 10 out of the past 12 sessions.

The move is regarded as an adjustment of stock prices to the lower levels of general business expected later this year and next.

RAILROADS LEAD FALL

Railroads were leaders of the fall. When they hit a new low for the year on average, that was regarded as bearish.

Today the industrial segment of the market also broke through to a new low for the year. That immediately became a signal for professional selling. The public had little or no part in trading.

The Associated Press averages of 60 stocks declined $2.20, highest drop since June 9 and the third heaviest of the year.

At the close the average stood at $102.40. That is a new low for the year and the lowest since May 20 of last year. Both the industrial and railroad components of the average hit new lows for the year—industrials down $2.80 and railroads down $2.50. Utilities were off 60 cents.

MARKET BROADENS

The market broadened to include 1,200 individual issues traded, one of the broadest markets of the year. There were only 73 gainers while 870 issues declined.

Three new highs were registered—Clintons Foods Preferred, New York Shipbuilding and Greyhound. There were 365 new lows for the year recorded.

Volume mounted to 2,190,000 shares, considerably higher than recent sessions. Friday's total was 1,680,000 shares. It was the 18th time this year that the two million mark has been reached.

Benquet Consolidated Mining was the day's most active issue, unchanged at 1 1/4 with 50,000 shares traded. That total included a block of 40,000 shares and a block of 10,000 shares at 1 1/4.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor creases and discoloration, characteristic of old paper. The left edge of the page is bound, showing the stitching or glue used to attach it to the book's spine. The overall tone is warm and off-white.

Six Ways Better

1. Thoroughly Inspected
2. Reconditioned for Safety
3. Reconditioned for Performance
4. Reconditioned for Value
5. Honestly Described
6. Dealer Warranty in Writing

We invite you to compare our cars and prices to prove we offer a better value in today's used car market—from the safety born of expert inspection to the economy built on thorough reconditioning—from the thrill of pep and power to the assurance of honest treatment as prescribed by us for over 84 years.

Yes, if you want a better buy see our selection of 1933, 1932 and 1931 passenger cars and trucks in a choice of body styles and colors. Our "Better Than a Guarantee Plan" protects you—the buyer cannot lose.

Come in during Atlanta's Used Car Exchange Week for the greatest opportunity you have ever had to own a better car. All cars plainly priced.

A Rhyme a Day

"Send for the cook book with a hundred simple summer recipes which the novice can use with success."—Advertisement.

When I have nothing else to do . . . I read the daily papers through . . . and when I finish with the news . . . I turn the pages to peruse . . . the helpful hints, and you would be . . . surprised at what they've done for me.

I've learned to fry or boil the eggs . . . and brew the coffee without dregs . . . and mix a salad dressing that . . . is good but doesn't make you fat . . . but when I've finished, I confess . . . the kitchen is an awful mess.

But I must ruefully admit . . . my wife can take a little bit . . . of nothing and prepare a dish . . . as good as any thing could wish . . . she never measures that or this . . . her method is just "hit or miss" . . . and she thinks it's a lot of fun . . . to show how easily it's done.

I'll keep on learning all I can . . . but I'm about convinced a man . . . is out of place around the sink . . . or kitchen stove; I also think . . . that women are the finest cooks . . . who learn by practice, not from books.

Wonder Drugs Curb Germland's Power

The wonder drugs have upset the balance of power in germland. Billions of streptococci and staphylococci are being killed by penicillin and as a result, the virus has become the kingpin.

This may explain why viral diseases such as polio, flu, and hepatitis appear to be more prevalent than bacterial disorders.

The virus is much smaller than a bacterium and cannot be seen with the ordinary microscope. It differs from other germs by living inside tissue cells.

Unlike bacteria, it cannot grow outside living tissue and for this reason is not cultivatable experimentally.

No one knows why permanent immunity follows some of these infections. A simple bout of German measles, chicken pox, or smallpox is rarely if ever followed by recurrence. By contrast, some persons have one cold after another; others are bothered every year with an attack of influenza.

Viral diseases are difficult to prevent with the exception of smallpox; vaccination has been used with excellent results against this disease for more than a century and a half.

Pooled gamma globulin, the human flood derivative, contains fighting substances called antibodies and offers temporary immunity against measles, infectious hepatitis, and poliomyelitis.

A vaccine against polio also is in the making and early tests are promising.

The bidding:
North Pass East 1 diamond Pass
1 club Pass 1 diamond Pass
2 hearts Pass 3 diamonds Pass
3 hearts Pass 4 clubs Pass
4 spades Pass 5 no trump Pass
6 no trump Pass Pass
Provocative of the most violent discussions between partners was the hand shown today, culled from the Cavalier tournament at Virginia Beach. The maximum result was obtained by the pair whose bidding is indicated in the diagram.

North opened modestly with one club, and after South's response of one diamond, he made a jump shift rebid of two hearts, forcing to game. South at this point could recognize that the partnership had a slam but temporized further with a rebid of the diamond suit. North's bid of three hearts was very enlightening. It identified a five-card heart suit and therefore, by direct implication, a six-card club suit, since otherwise clubs would not have been bid first. South's bid of four clubs is a delicate choice. On the surface it sounds like a mere preference, but when South does something glamorous on the next round, as he fully intends to do, this will make it clear that he has the ace of clubs. North, not yet aware of South's strength and to impress partner with the solidity of the heart suit, rebid it once more. South now came forth in his true colors. The bid of five no trump was well chosen. It is not part of any convention but simply shows a well-balanced hand and a willingness to play at slam, leaving the selection of the exact slam contract to partner's choice.

North's choice of six no trump, despite the highly unbalanced character of his hand, is worthy of note. His partner had described good diamonds, the ace of clubs and a spade stopper which must be the queen-jack, for if it were the ace, South would have shown it directly. North therefore could count more than the necessary 12 winners and realized he would lose only to the ace of spades.

A contract of six hearts was defeated at some tables when West doubled the final contract. Normally, such a double calls for the lead of dummy's first suit, but East felt that his partner could hardly desire a diamond lead, since North had shown 11 cards in clubs and hearts. He concluded, therefore, that partner must be void in clubs and could ruff the opening lead.

ED SULLIVAN

Van Den Dreschd
Persona Non Grata

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Dear Boss—Unfortunate for Jacques Mornard van den Dreschd that Stalin died. Jacques, Stalinist goon who picked Leon Trotsky to death in Mexico City, Aug. 20, 1940, is about to be paroled from Juarez p.e.n. You can doubt that fat Malenkov will want him around the Kremlin premises.

MGM's "Julius Caesar," in its 13th week, has fractured all-time run previously recorded by Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree in 1898. . . . Greer Garson reading Sam and Bella Spawack's play, "Under the Sycamores." . . . Churchill due for Riviera vacation. . . . Gen. Claire Chennault to undergo surgery.

Marciano 1-4 over La Starza and no takers; Yanks 6½ to 5 over Dodgers. . . . Sir Stork en route to the Tyrone Powers, the Walter Goulds Mimi Benzell. . . . Nervous breakdown felled Arch Oboler.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 10 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

YOUR MIND'S MIRROR

By JOSEPH WHITNEY

Is the desire for power instinctive?

Answer: No! Psychologists say it is one of our more neurotic needs born of an exaggerated anxiety for security and freedom. Even though this drive is accepted by society as normal and respectable, it builds new anxieties on top of old ones. Man seeks power to protect himself against inner doubts and misgivings, and he may sacrifice love, companionship and respectability to attain it. However he can never be satisfied, for power will not resolve man's inner doubts.

Are all "teen-agers" defiant?

Answer: At times, yes. Their defiance is usually concerned only with unacceptable behavior and not with matters of real significance. But if they are not given some independence and a feeling they are to be trusted, or if they are nagged and criticized about trivial matters, their normal desire for independence may result in open defiance. The boy who "runs away" is usually trying to escape many small frustrations which add up to a life which he considers "unbearable."

Do "in-laws" like to criticize?

Answer: Not necessarily, but "in-law" relationships tend to be complicated and sometimes difficult. Recognizing that fact and studying your own attitude toward it will help with your "in-law" problems. A woman who accepts minor faults in her husband should not get irritated if his mother shows the same shortcomings. A husband should not resent his wife's parents, nor should he blame them, because they share certain of her habits or traits which he finds annoying.

American automobile drivers burn enough gasoline over a holiday week and this year to fill 35 fully laden, average-sized tank ships, according to the National Federation of Shipping.

RADIO REVIEW

by

Dixie Best

ENTER JACK WEBB—Hardly a person in America fails to recognize that name. He's a detective who really never worked for any police force in America. Yet his sleuthing is better known than the casework of Sherlock Holmes. Of course we're referring to the one and only Jack Webb, who stars as Joe Friday on Dragnet. This tremendously popular half-hour returns to WSB Radio tonight at 9. Bet-dial 750 and listen. Everybody else in town will be doing just that.

PLAY THE GAME—It has been little short of amazing how quiz shows and old familiar parlor games have skyrocketed into radio popularity. Turn the dial any time and you find contestants puzzling over tricky questions and nimble-minded panelists trying to guess what, who, why and when about everybody and everything. WSB Radio offers three such fun sessions on Tuesday night. The Baron and the Bee is on at 9. Then comes the inimitable Herb Shriner with Two for the Money at 10. And finally at 10:35, a newcomer called Secret Ambition. All are guaranteed to tickle your ears and your funny bone.

MAIL BAG—Is Morgan Beatty doing two news programs at night on WSB Radio? asks a listener in Decatur. The answer is yes. He covers the News of the World at 7:30 and then comes back with a fresh set of headline reports at 11:15. Monday through Friday nights! Incidentally, Brother Beatty is a true son of Dixie, hailing originally from Little Rock, Ark.

TUNING TIP—When you go to bed tonight, set your clock radio—if you have one—at 7:50 and wake up in time for the Breakfast Edition of the News on WSB Radio at 7 a. m. Almost everybody in Atlanta listens to Jimmy Bridges and his staff of news correspondents at that time.

Uniformity In Fire Risk Rate Seen

Every Atlanta residence within 1,000 feet of a fire plug, will have a uniform fire insurance rate in a matter of months, Ald. Cobb Torrance, chairman of Council's insurance committee, told the Atlanta Board of Firemasters Monday night.

Torrance's prediction came as the board approved award of a contract to Maynard Johnston Co. for erection of a $25,723 fire station at Main and Church Sts. at Bolton, and ordered City Land Agent Harry Andrews to negotiate for a site at Howell Mill and Moore's Mill Rds. for a second station.

"When the station for which Mr. Andrews is negotiating is completed, all residents within the stipulated 1,000 feet of a fire plug will get a uniform rate," Torrance said. "It will take some time to get plugs within 1,000 feet of some places, but we are making real progress."

NEW SYSTEM

If Torrance's forecast comes true, the uniform rate would be 22 cents per $100 insurance carried on dwellings and 27 cents for every $100 worth of insurance carried on contents.

The board session also was highlighted by the recommendations from the fire prevention committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Creation of four additional positions of assistant chief and providing automobiles at a cost of $25,000; addition of six men to the Fire Prevention Bureau at a cost of $27,000 and construction of a $15,000 two-story training structure so men can get practice at simulated fires.

Robert R. Snodgrass, president of the Chamber, Frank A. King, chairman of the subcommittee which prepared the recommendations, and Curtis Bryant, chairman of the Chamber's fire-prevention committee, presented the report.

2-WAY RADIOS

Snodgrass and his associates also recommended that two-way radios be installed in fire equipment as soon as possible.

They argued that seven chief officers are too few for a city having 128 square miles of area, and said assistant chiefs must now cover too much territory. In addition, they urged that men on the supernumerary list be used to fill in for vacations, sick leaves and other absences to close the gap which now exists between the time a candidate is qualified and is put to work. They estimated the time now at a year.

Skeleton Here Listed as That Of Ex-Sheriff

A skeleton discovered on Riverside Drive, N. W., near the Chattahoochee River, has been positively identified as that of James C. Young, 80, a former sheriff of Dawson County, police said today.

Young evidently walked away from the Fulton County alms house on March 26 and had not been seen since. Dets. W. D. Browning and J. M. Pack said.

The skeleton was discovered Sunday by two men hunting herbs in a thickly wooded area off Riverside Drive, near the river. Detectives said Mr. Young had evidently collapsed there after walking from the alms house in Atlanta.

Positive identification was made through a dentist in Hartwell, who had made a set of dentures for Mr. Young, detectives related. They said a nephew, J. H. Fouts of 939 Fortness Ave., N. W., identified the clothing and also part of a newspaper found inside the band of a hat lying near the skeleton.

Fouts recalled placing the paper in Mr. Young's hat two years ago, detectives said.

Mr. Young served as sheriff of Dawson County for 10 years before resigning 15 years ago. He resided with relatives in Atlanta until six months ago, when he moved to the alms house.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Roswell Store Funeral Home at Roswell.

HITS MERIT SYSTEM
Ellis Arnall

Arnall Says Merit System Political Patronage Plan

HARTWELL, Aug. 31—Former Gov. Ellis Arnall Monday night declared it would be much better to abolish the State Merit System than to convert it into a political patronage system such as the Talmadge administration has done.

"The present administration has made a joke of the merit system," Arnall said in a talk scheduled for delivery before the Hartwell Kiwanis Club. "It has converted the merit system into a political patronage system."

While hiding under a cloak of merit, the only "merit" left in the so-called merit system is "political merit," Arnall asserted.

"The system has been perverted into a program that violates all principles of justice and fairness in state employment," he went on. "It would be much better to abolish the system in a forthright manner than to try to deceive the people."

The former governor observed that Talmadge criticizes the federal government for maintaining hordes of useless employees, "yet this state administration has more worthless job holders and more political patronage misfits on the state payroll than at any time in its history." It is paying the most exorbitant salaries to the most useless state political patronage job-holders, he added.

Arnall's remarks followed the most recent moves by the State Merit Board which has been under constant attack during the Talmadge administration. Last week the board—hired Ralph Moore, of Washington and Marietta, as a policy-forming secretary, and placed him above the veteran director E. L. Swain. Last April it slashed the merit system's staff 50 per cent "for reasons of economy."

The vote on these moves were two-to-one, with Chairman Randall Walker of Jesup and Stanley Brooks of McRae favoring, and Cook Barwick of Atlanta dissenting.

East Point Paint Plant Is Closed as 52 Walk Out

A full-scale walkout of production and maintenance workers shut down operations at the paint division of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in East Point Monday as 78,000 strikers in the telephone and rubber industries of the nation returned to their jobs.

Meanwhile, a new walkout in the rubber industry was threatened by the CIO United Rubber Workers Union, which reported 18,000 members were "all set" to strike against nine plants of the B. F. Goodrich Company.

The East Point strike involves 52 members of Local 13713, United Mine Workers District 50. Work at the paint division was halted Monday morning by a unanimous vote after negotiations for an across-the-board wage increase of 10 cents an hour failed, according to Garland Munsey, union spokesman.

BONE OF CONTENTION

The principal bone of contention in the strike at East Point is five cents an hour wage increase; the company offered five cents, but the union asked for 10 cents. Munsey said the union first asked for 20 cents.

The union contract with the Pittsburgh firm, which opened its East Point plant in May, 1952, expired Aug. 27. Following a one-day extension, union members continued wage discussions Saturday with S. M. Doccie, personnel director of the plant and Commissioner Scott Springfield, federal mediator.

Some 20 of the striking paint workers mingled in a vacant lot across the street from the massive plant on Oakleigh Drive, pitching baseball Monday.

NO-PICKET AGREEMENT

However, a no-picket agreement between the union and the company is in effect until Thursday.

"The company agreed not to ship or receive anything and we agreed not to picket," Munsey said, "and the company agreed to let us use the parking lot."

But union members and plant officials said relations were "good" and no item was in major contention except the wage scale.

Meanwhile, negotiations between eight plate-glass companies and the American Federation of Labor Local 193 of painters, decorators and paper-hangers bogged down Monday over wage increases.

CITY HALL NEWS

Low Bid
On Garage

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Another step in construction of the multi-million dollar downtown expressway connector was taken Monday when bids were opened on a parking garage for the Medical Arts Building at Peachtree Street and Medical Place.

The Central Construction Co. was apparent low bidder, asking $196,893 for the three stories which the city will pay for and another $24,114 for an additional story which the property owners will finance.

Col. Garland Steele, city liaison engineer on expressway developments, said he is extremely satisfied with the bid and will recommend its approval.

Under plans, the connector will cut through an existing parking lot used by the Medical Arts Building. An agreement was reached through which the city would close Medical Place between Alexander and Peachtree Streets and build a portion of the parking garage on available property adjacent to the medical structure. This was in lieu of paying for property owned by the medical building which will be taken by the expressway.

Girl, 16, Cleared In Auto Crash That Killed 2

Charges were dismissed Monday in Fulton Juvenile Court against Miss Isabel Biggers, 16, of 3998 Powers Ferry Rd., N. W., in connection with an auto accident July 12 on Peachtree Road in which two teen-age passengers were killed.

Miss Biggers was absolved of blame after a two and one-half-hour hearing before Juvenile Judge W. W. Woolfolk.

Officers said she evidently lost control of the car in the 3300 block of Peachtree Road when she applied brakes as another machine cut in front of her.

Charles Lawrence Jamison, 15, of 3901 Powers Ferry Rd., N. W., and Betty May Hardwick, 13, of 3997 Tuxedo Rd., N. W., were fatally injured in the accident, patrolmen said.

Women Want Park Near 800 Peachtree

Women employees at the 800 Peachtree Building want a small park similar to Hurt or Plaza Parks where they can eat their lunches and sun themselves.

Miss Helen Pair has written Mayor Hartsfield urging a park and beauty spot in the vicinity of Howell House. "It would be a real treat to eat lunch in a lovely setting," she asserted. The mayor referred her request to the parks department.

the Bryant "Command-Aire"
Here's the Furnace with a future

When you own a Bryant "Command-Aire" furnace you are just one step away from year-round home conditioning...

because you add the Bryant "Command-Aire" Air Conditioner at any time with no change in existing duct work.

Picture yourself in a home that's luxuriously warm in winter and delightfully cool in summer. It can be your home when you have Campbell install a Bryant "Command-Aire" gas furnace. Either now, or later at your convenience, we'll install the cooling twin. It simply moves in alongside the furnace—and presto!—you have year-round conditioning. For new homes or old—see Campbell now for more information and free literature.
